Puerto Rican Terrorists Open Fire In U.S. House...

REP. BENTLEY MAY DIE

Four Nebraska Congressmen Missed By Hail Of Bullets

... Dr. Miller Attended One Of Wounded Representatives

Lincoln Star Special
WASHINGTON, D. C.—Three of Nebraska's four representatives found themselves in the thick of the excitement Monday when Puerto Rican fanatics blasted the decorum of the House of Representatives with a fusillade of pistol shots.
Rep. Roman Hruska of Omaha was absent during the shooting which wounded five members of the House.
Rep. Hruska said he had left the House floor to go to his office about 15 or 20 minutes before the shooting occurred. He said he was talking to Rep. Jensen just before he left.
The others, however, were present and—for good cause—ducking.
They related their individual experiences to The Lincoln Star in long distance telephone conversations.
Rep. A. L. Miller of Kimball, a physician, helped attend Rep. Bentley, who was seriously wounded. Miller, the first one to reach Bentley, said:
"I was walking towards the fellows doing the shooting. I didn't realize they were real guns."
Rep. Carl T. Curtis of Minden said he was standing near the cloakroom when the shooting started so he went into the cloakroom and got down on the floor.
Rep. Robert D. Harrison of Norfolk said he was about five or six feet from the line of fire and that he was probably the first one to take cover by lying down on the chamber floor.

Here are their individual comments.
Rep. Miller:
"I was on the floor (of the House chamber) where I could see the shooting. We were taking a vote on the 'wetback' bill. The members were standing on the floor.
"The speaker had just announced the affirmative vote and was calling for the negative vote when the shooting started."

"They apparently were shooting at the ceiling at first.
"They fired about 15 or 20 shots at the ceiling. The last eight or ten shots were aimed at House members. If all the shots had been fired at the congressmen, 25 or 30 members might have been hurt.
"I didn't realize they were real shots. I thought they were blanks until I heard Bentley scream and fall. Then I knew they were shots.
"The bullet taken from Bentley's desk was the hard-nosed .32 caliber type.
Near Bentley
"If the bullet had been soft-nosed, it would have killed Bentley immediately. I was walking 10 or 15 feet behind Bentley when it started.
"I was walking toward the fellows who were doing the shooting. I didn't realize they were real guns. I thought they were cap guns at first. I really am not a brave man.
"If I had known they were real guns, I would have been down on the floor.
First One
"I was the first one to reach Bentley. He had been shot clear through. I tried to check the bleeding, and waited with him 10 or 15 minutes before the ambulance arrived. We kept him quiet on the floor. Other doctors tended to the other injured men."

Puerto Rican Trio Seized In House Gunplay
Dazed and troubled, Rafael C. Miranda, seized in the House chamber shooting as he was rushed from the Capitol by police.

Hair awry, Andres Cordevo, seized after the shooting, as he was hurried away by Washington police.

Protection Tightened

... Assassins Hit 5; Captured

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police protection for the Capitol and key government buildings was tightened Monday night in an effort to prevent any repetition of the shooting of five congressmen by Puerto Rican fanatics.

Sudden gunfire from a small group of Puerto Rican Nationalists threw the house into uproar in mid-afternoon.
One of the five victims of the shooting, Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.) was seriously wounded. He was given an even chance for survival.
Dr. Charles White, who helped operate on Bentley said:
"The operation was a success. Bentley has a 50-50 chance. He is now in the hands of the Lord."
Another congressman had a shoulder wound, and three were hit in the leg.
Two gunmen and their woman companion, Puerto Ricans from New York City, were seized on the spot. Police Chief Robert V. Murray said Monday night that they have confessed the shooting, and have implicated a fourth.

List of Wounded
The wounded congressmen:
Bentley, 35, hit in the left side below the heart. The bullet went on through, and came out the right side.
Ben F. Jensen (R-Ia), 61, struck in the left shoulder.
Clifford Davis (D-Tenn), 56, shot through the upper calf of his right leg.
Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala), 41, bullet struck left leg while he was seated. It entered above the knee and came out below.
George H. Fallon (D-Md), 51, shot in the hip.
Police identified the Puerto Ricans as members of the Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico. Two other members of the party tried to assassinate President Truman in 1950.
Police Chief Murray said these three had admitted the shooting: Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34, of 315 West 94th St., New York City. Murray said she has just been divorced.
Rafael Concel Miranda, 25, of 120 South First St., New York City.
Andres Figueroa Cordero, 29, of 108 East 103rd St., New York City.

Names A Fourth
Edgar E. Scott, deputy chief of detectives, said that Mrs. Lebron had said Irving Flores, 27, of 108 East 103 St., New York City, also was a member of the group. But Scott said Flores had not admitted he was present at the shooting.
"Flores ducked out in the confusion," Scott said, "but we have a witness (Mrs. Lebron) to his participation."
The four Puerto Ricans were held in $100,000 bond each Monday night on charges of felonious assault with intent to kill.
The four, three men and a woman, were arraigned before Cyril S. Lawrence, United States commissioner for the District of Columbia.
Three other persons who had been taken into custody were still being held without any charge being filed against them.
Murray talked for a long time with Lolita Lebron. He said he was convinced the four are from the same group which tried to assassinate Truman.

Note In Pursue
Tom Kennesamer, house doorkeeper, said Mrs. Lebron's purse had been taken from her, and in it she had a note on which she had scribbled:
"I take responsibility for all."
On the other side, she had written:
"Before God and the world my blood claims for the independence of Puerto Rico. My life I give for the freedom of my country. This is a cry for victory in our struggle for independence which for more than a half century has tried to conquer the land that belongs to Puerto Rico."
"I state forever that the United States of America are betraying the sacred principles of mankind (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Car Overturns In Lagoon Near Norfolk
NORFOLK, Neb. (P)—A 72-year-old Tilson, Neb., mother and her 48-year-old son lost their lives late Monday as the result of an auto accident 8 miles west of here.
Mrs. Charles Sanne was dead when officers arrived on the scene.
George Sanne died Monday night in a Norfolk hospital.
Dr. George Salter, Norfolk, Madison County physician, said both deaths were due to drowning.
The car in which the two were riding, driven by the son, overturned in a lagoon.
The State Safety Patrol said the deaths would be counted as highway fatalities. They brought to 56 the number in the state this year. On March 1, 1953, there had been only 29.
A Tilden nurse, Marion Vuystek, happened on the scene and applied artificial respiration. She was credited with keeping Sanne alive after the accident. The Norfolk Fire Department resuscitator was used following the nurse's original effort.
Patrolmen said Sanne was driving the car when it left the highway and went into a ditch. He apparently attempted to steer the car back onto the highway but hit a bridge abutment and the car dropped into a lagoon beneath the bridge.
Two passersby, Earl Kelly of Norfolk and Fred Hahn of Battle Creek, pulled the two from the car.

Loan Boost Voted
WASHINGTON (INS)—The House Banking Committee voted Monday to allow the government to lend farmers another one and three-quarter billion dollars on their crops. The committee unanimously approved legislation raising the Commodity Credit Corporation's loan authority to eight and one-half billion dollars. The present limit, already reached, is six and three-quarters billions.

NPPS To Build Steam Power Plant At Beatrice

... $17,600,000 In Revenue Bonds Planned

The Nebraska Public Power System has announced that it will offer a $17,600,000 bond issue April 6 for the construction of a 70,000 kilowatt steam generating plant in the vicinity of Beatrice.
Dewey J. DeBoer, NPPS executive director, said decision to go forward with the two-year-old generating plant plan came as the result of a determination by the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation on the amount of power it will have available from South Dakota Missouri Basin dams.

"It appears now," he said, "that about 100,000 kilowatts will be available by 1956 from the Bureau, and this (NPPS) plant is expected to be in operation by the end of 1956."

DeBoer said it seemed possible that no more bureau power would be available before 1960.

35 Year Bonds
Bonds for the Beatrice plant will be issued as Loup River Public Power district revenues in two series maturing in about 35 years, starting in 1959.

There will be approximately $10 million in series D bonds and $7,600,000 in Series F bonds. Announcement on the sale has been set for March 23.

The decision was reached at a conference last week attended by the officials of the NPPS and the hydro districts—the Loup River Public Power District and the Platte Valley Public Power District.
Meeting with the public power representatives were the trustee, E. L. Andrews of the American National Bank and Trust Company, Chicago; R. Gilman Smith of W. C. Gilman & Co. New York; consulting engineers; William H. Reuss of R. W. Beck and Associates, Columbus, engineers; and Lincoln Cassell of Wayne-wright and Ramsey, Inc., New York financial consultants.

Overrules Budget Board
The decision overruled the disapproval of the NPP budget board as well as conflicting with Consumers Public Power District which Jan. 28 announced that it would build a steam generating plant somewhere in eastern Nebraska of a capacity to be determined.

Consumers held to the position that it should build the extra generating facility because it could get more favorable interest rates thereby providing the most economical unit. It was disapproved by the budget board.
Consumers estimated that the additional Missouri Basin power would still leave the eastern division of Nebraska 95,000 kw short of expected needs by late 1956.

Consumers presently operates no consequential power producing units, but leases most that it owns to NPPS.
At Beatrice on business Monday, Ray Schacht, manager of Consumers' Public Power District received the news of the NPPS decision with, "No comment on their plans."
Asked whether it would alter Consumer's plans, Schacht said, "Our board recently made a decision to build a steam generating plant. To my knowledge that decision still stands. There has been no change," he said.

Consumers Plan Plant At Ogallala

COLUMBUS, Neb. (P)—The Consumers Public Power District (CPPD) announced Monday its board of directors has approved the expenditure of $2,100,000 for the construction of a new steam generating plant to be located at Ogallala.

The additional power generated by the new plant, with its 9,375 kilowatt capacity, will stabilize electric service and provide an adequate margin of power to meet continually increasing needs in the Broadwater, Lisco, Oshkosh, Lewellen, Big Springs and Ogallala Areas, CPPD said. The plant also will provide additional power for the District's entire western system, including the Scottsbluff and Chadron areas.

The Starns-Roger Manufacturing Co., Denver, was named the consulting and construction engineers for the new plant.
Present schedules call for the plant to go into service sometime during the fall of 1955.
CPPD officials pointed out that the Ogallala project is not to be confused with the steam generating station in the District's consolidated eastern system which the CPPD board authorized Jan. 27.

Cold Temps Seen Tuesday

Cold weather en masse is on Nebraska's menu Tuesday.
Temperatures are expected to go no higher than 10 to 20 degrees above zero Tuesday, following a night of extreme low temperatures.
Brisk winds were reported over much of the state Monday night and early Tuesday.
Gusts ranged up to 38 miles an hour at Sidney and 37 at Norfolk early Tuesday. It was snowing at Valentine and Chadron and the temperature had dropped to 7 above at Scottsbluff and 8 at Sidney.
Scattered light snow is also forecast for Tuesday, in addition to high winds and the brittle temperatures.
Clearing skies and colder weather in the southeast portion of the state was forecast for Tuesday night.

Wounded Congressman Borne To Ambulance

The ambulance door is thrown open as Rep. Clifford Davis, (D-Tenn.), is carried from the nation's Capitol after a tumultuous shooting episode in the House chamber. Davis was hit in the lower leg as bursts of gunfire from the assailants' Luger pistols poured down from a spectators' gallery Monday. Four other Congressmen were also cut down by the gunfire. Muriel L. Pickett Of Schuyler Named Typical Coed At U Of N

Muriel L. Pickett, junior from Schuyler, was presented Monday night as the University of Nebraska's 1954 Typical Nebraska Coed.

Miss Pickett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Pickett, is enrolled in Teachers College. She is president of Builders, a student service organization, and a member of Sigma Alpha Iota, professional music sorority.

A special faculty-student committee selected her from a group of 20 finalists. She was presented at the opening performance of Coed Follies, annual variety show staged by women's organized groups at the University.
Also presented were the 12 finalists in the Cornhusker Yearbook Beauty Queen contest. They are:
Sandra Speicher, Omaha, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Speicher.
Alison Faulkner, Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Faulkner.
Susan Muehlaupt, Des Moines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Muehlaupt.
Rita-Al Goding, Alliance, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Goding.
Marymaude Bedford, Geneva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Bedford.
Daphne Young, Omaha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Young.
Leigh Cartwright, Omaha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Cartwright.
Diane Benedict, Jefferson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Benedict.
Gretchen Winkler, Alliance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Winkler.
Barbara Hof, Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hof.
Beverly Jacobs, Lincoln, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Jacobs.
Gail Drahota, Columbus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Drahota.
The six winners will be announced in May.

—Puerto Rico—
Shooting
Termed
'Lunacy'
Gov. Munoz Says
People 'Indignant'

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP)—Gov. Luis Marin Munoz and political leaders Monday night vigorously condemned the shooting of U.S. congressmen by Puerto Rican extremists as an act of savagery.

Police were alerted as soon as the reports from Washington reached here and additional guards were placed in the capitol where the legislature was in session. The Senate and the House immediately recessed.

Gov. Munoz in a statement said: "The whole people of Puerto Rico are deeply indignant because of this savage and unbelievable lunacy which does not express in the remotest way the peaceful and decent nature of the people of Puerto Rico."

The president of the Senate, Samuel Quinones, declared: "Our faith in American democracy and our affection toward the United States are reaffirmed today in condemning this vandals' act against such a respectable group of gentlemen."

Sick Minds
Miguel Angel Garcia Mendez, president of the Statehood Party, said the incident did great harm to the whole cause of Puerto Rico. He added with reference to the United States: "We hope such a great nation with a great understanding will be able to differentiate between the spirit of aggression from a group of obsessed individuals who act through... sick minds, and the gratefulness and affection which the people of Puerto Rico hold for the United States."

"The Independence Party, not to be confused with the Nationalists, also issued a statement saying: 'We condemn the acts that occurred today in Washington's House of Representatives.' But it is said 'it is our duty to point out at this time that at the root of these regretful incidents lies the hateful colonial system still in effect in Puerto Rico which moves some low spirits to violence.'"

The party cancelled an earlier statement, condemning 'political terrorism.'

The Independence Party wants independence for Puerto Rico, but does not favor violence. It polled about 125,000 votes in the 1952 election.

The Nationalists, smallest of the parties in Puerto Rico, is estimated by Gov. Munoz to have about 500 followers.

Vile Desecration
In separate messages to President Eisenhower and each wounded congressman, Gov. Munoz expressed his detestation of the shooting which he called a 'vile desecration of the principles which bind Puerto Rico and the United States.'"

"The people of Puerto Rico are deeply indignant at the dastardly attack against the cause of freedom and democracy," he said in his message to President Eisenhower. "The Nationalists," he added, "are old aggressors of everything democratic which makes them an infinitesimal minority in our midst."

Puerto Ricans have voted time and again to retain their half-century association with the United States, but a fiery little group of Nationalists has continued to agitate for independence, often by violent means.

The United States told the United Nations in New York last year President Eisenhower was ready to move for Puerto Rican independence whenever the people wanted it. Puerto Rico's governor said the islanders preferred their newly acquired commonwealth status, granted to them under former President Truman.

Lawmakers Wounded In Pistol Attack

Security Is Tightened

... In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tightened security precautions were put on at the Capitol and key downtown government buildings Monday night after the wild shooting spree by Puerto Rican Nationalists in the House chamber.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass.) after conferring with Democratic Rayburn of Texas, announced that beginning Tuesday no one will be admitted to the visitors' gallery of the House without an admittance card issued by a member.

"We're going to hold each congressman responsible for those he issues a card to," he said.

Several Gallery Sections
Martin also said the police guard at the Capitol will be supplemented by members of the Washington Metropolitan force.

Martin said precautions will also be taken with regard to visitors to the buildings housing members' offices.

"We are going to strengthen our protection," he said. There are several sections in the House gallery. For persons wishing to listen to the debate for an extended period, admittance is by card issued through a member of the House.

Other sections are used by tourists on guided tours of the capital. They remain in the House chamber for about 10 minutes before moving on. They are admitted after a check for cameras, but without cards. It was one of these sections that the Puerto Ricans were admitted Monday.

SECRET SERVICE ALERTED
WASHINGTON (AP)—U. S. E. Baughman, chief of the U. S. Secret Service, said Monday night the Secret Service "got information several months ago that the Puerto Rican Nationalists might try to harm the President."

SWEEPING ORDER
NEW YORK (AP)—A sweeping police order late Monday sent detectives from many parts of the city into New York's Puerto Rican section. A special squad also was ordered as a guard at the mayor's residence, Gracie mansion.

1856 ATTACK
NEW YORK (AP)—Only one other attack ever resulted in bloodshed on the floor of either house of Congress, the Encyclopedia Americana reported.

That was said to have occurred in 1856, when Sen. Charles Sumner (R-Mass.) made a speech in which there was a personal reference to Rep. Preston S. Brooks (D-Sc.).

Brooks, incensed, waited until after the Senate session had adjourned, then walked to Sumner's desk and bludgeoned him with a cane until the senator "fell bloody and senseless to the floor," the encyclopedia said.

PHOTOGRAPHERS STRUCK
WASHINGTON (AP)—Four photographers reported that during the excitement they were struck by police while trying to take pictures. Those who said they were hit: Henry Griffin of the Associated Press, William Smyth of Movietone News, Al Muto of International News Photos and Charley Mack of CBS Television.

50-100 FEET AWAY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The five lawmakers felled by pistol fire in the House chamber were 50 to 100 feet away from their assailants.

The shots came from the farthest corner of the gallery, which is built above the speaker's desk and faces the House floor where the members meet.

Puerto Rican Is Held After Ike Threat

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A 24-year-old Puerto Rican was held for a Federal Grand Jury Monday night on a charge of threatening to kill President Eisenhower.

Police Capt. Joseph P. MacDonald said Pedro Orozco made repeated threats Monday he was "going to kill the President" while objecting to being fingerprinted in connection with a non-support charge against him.

Orozco was ordered held for a Federal Grand Jury Tuesday in New Haven by U. S. District Commissioner Benedict M. Holden Jr. bail was set at $15,000.

At the hearing Orozco denied he made the threats.

"I never carried a gun or a pistol. I no kill anyone," he testified.

Two policemen told Commissioner Holden Orozco made threats repeatedly while being fingerprinted.

Capt. McDonald said Orozco was taken into custody after he testified as a witness in an assault and battery case involving his wife in police court.

The arrest occurred about the same time that gunfire from a small group of Puerto Ricans wounded five congressmen in the House of Representatives in Washington, D. C.

LOLITA LEBRON HAS NO REGRET FOR SHOOTINGS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Lolita Lebron, 34, one of four Puerto Ricans held Monday night in the terrorist shootings directed at the House floor, said in an interview the attack was timed to coincide with the opening of the Pan-American conference in Caracas, Venezuela. She said it would dramatize "the problem of colonialism." She expressed no regret.

She said the shooting was to "bring the attention of the people to plight of Puerto Rico. It is a country that is not free."

"Not To Kill"
"Did you shoot to kill or wound?" newsmen asked.

"Not to kill," she said. The shooting, she added, "was my idea. It was the idea of four of us. I feel I did something for my country." Mrs. Lebron, a native of Lares, Puerto Rico, said members of the Puerto Rican colony in New York knew nothing about her intentions.

She said Pedro Albizu Campos, leader of the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party, did not tell them to carry out the shooting. "It was our idea," she said.

Two Children
Mrs. Lebron said her father was Gonzalez Lebron. She said in answer to a question that she has two children, a boy and a girl but she declined to say where they are.

A reporter asked if she wasn't sorry for what happened Monday afternoon and wasn't sorry for her part in it.

She said no country has been free unless people die for it and she had no regret.

Asked if her religion, Catholic, didn't forbid such violent acts she sharply told the reporters that religion had nothing to do with the fight for freedom.

Terrorists Open Fire On U.S. Congress

In their continuous subjugation of my country, violating their rights to be a free nation and a free people in their barbarous torture of our apostle of independence, Don Pedro Albizu Campos."

The two men who tried to kill Truman also were followers of Albizu Campos.

Like the attack on Truman, Monday's shooting took place without the slightest advance warning.

The House was considering a bill for the recruitment of Mexican labor. Speaker Martin had been asked if a quorum were present, and he had counted the House.

"Two-hundred forty-three have answered to their names," Martin said, far more than normally are present during the debates.

Moments later, at 2:31 p.m. (EST) this placid scene was turned into the wildest confusion. The Puerto Ricans were seated in the gallery above and to the left of the speaker's rostrum, so that they were facing the unsuspecting congressmen.

Quickly came the shout, the shots, the flag-waving, so quickly many congressmen didn't even realize it was anything more than a prank.

But there was Bentley, on the floor. Jensen, unconscious, lay in a pool of blood. Davis was fired, holding his ankle. Fallon and Roberts were holding their wounds.

So great was the confusion that no one knows exactly what the Puerto Ricans shouted. Several caught it: "My country is not free. Free Puerto Rico!" But there were others who thought the shout was: "Viva La Mexico!"

It was over so soon no one even knew how many shots were fired. Twenty to 25, some said. Others said at least 30.

But you'll get some idea of how wild the firing was from this:

One shot dug a hole in the House's new ceiling. Others ranged from the Republican to the Democratic side of the chamber. The mahogany desk, at which the Republican leaders sit, was hit. Splinters hit Rep. Arends (R-Ill), the assistant GOP floor leader.

These shots were so close that the Republican leader, Halleck of Indiana, said:

"Those two shots were designed for somebody here at this table, sure as hell."

Three House members who also are physicians, Reps. Judd (R-Minn), Fenton (R-Pa) and A. L. Miller (R-Neb), hurriedly gave first aid to the victims.

Rep. Priest (D-Tenn) yanked off his necktie and put a hasty tourniquet on Roberts' right leg.

Quickly Overpowered
Up above, where the shooting had been, the action was just as rapid.

Lee Thomas, a 21-year-old page from Williamsport, Pa., dashed from the floor and up the marble stairs to the gallery.

"The first of the gunmen was stumbling out," Thomas said, "and there were five or six men piled on him."

"I went on past and the second guy was just coming out, still holding his pistol. One fellow was hanging on to his right arm, but the gun was pointing at me."

"So I grabbed the arm with one hand and hit him on the side of the jaw with the other. Just then a cop came along, snatched the gun away from him and collared him."

Matthew Fardello of Paterson, N. J., a doorkeeper at Gallery No. 10, had stepped inside to watch proceedings when the shooting started in the one next to his.

"I thought at first it was a machinegun and then I saw the pistols and saw this woman waving a flag," he said.

"I came running out and toward Gallery 11 when I got hit in the face when I grabbed this little guy. "I grabbed him by the throat and put my knee in his belly and then I grabbed his arm with my left hand and bent the one with the pistol back."

Belcher (William Belcher, doorkeeper for Gallery No. 11) took the gun away from him, and we helped hold him until somebody came and led him away."

Ironically, Belcher became a sixth casualty. He had a heart attack after helping disarm the Puerto Rican, and was taken to the Bethesda Naval Hospital.

Repercussions were immediate. Many members called for a closer inspection of visitors. At present, there's only one command given spectators: No cameras. No one is searched.

The Senate galleries were cleared. In a little over a half hour, it, too, recessed.

Sen. Smathers (D-Fla) said the recess should be out of respect to members of the House "who have been injured in line of duty."

A White House reception was called off.

Nehru Spurns Ike Military Aid Offer

Prime Minister Is Bitter

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Prime Minister Nehru Monday spurned President Eisenhower's arms aid offer similar to that just granted neighboring Pakistan. Nehru demanded that U.S. observers get off the U.N. cease-fire team in Kashmir.

The Indian Parliament cheered as the prime minister commented bitterly on Eisenhower's letter explaining the U.S. decision to grant Pakistan military aid for defense purposes and offering the same treatment to India.

"In making this suggestion," Nehru declared, "the President has done less than justice to us or to himself. If we object to military aid being given to Pakistan, we would be hypocrites and unprincipled opportunists to accept it ourselves."

The deputies laughed when Nehru said:

"President Eisenhower has been good enough to suggest he would give his most sympathetic consideration to any request we might wish to make for military assistance."

India and Pakistan have been disputing the future political status of Kashmir ever since the Indian sub-continent was divided between the two in 1947. Referring to the presence of U.S. members on the U.N. cease-fire team here, Nehru said:

"Since they can no longer be treated by us as neutrals in this dispute, military aid given by the United States to Pakistan is a form of intervention in the dis-

Border Nebraska Counties Still Not Hurt By Dryness

Lincoln Star Special

The dry weather, dust and wind plaguing many states, particularly Western Kansas and Eastern Colorado, has not damaged the wheat now growing in the bordering counties of Nebraska, a sampling revealed.

All four of the county agents interviewed told The Star that there had been some wind damage and that the ground was dry but said a good rain would probably set things right.

All said that wheat is still in good shape and about average for this time of year.

Bob Johnson of Imperial, Red

Willow County agent, said that "a few farms have been hurt badly, and several received some damage. I have seen a few one or two-foot dust drifts, but the wheat here is still in good shape."

Cheyenne County agent Ivan Liljegren said that "conditions are not serious but we could use a good rain. Wheat is about average for March 1."

Chet Walters of Kimball, Kimball County agent, said "a little wheat has been lost in the southeast part of the county, but nothing disastrous." He also said that wheat there was in good condition.

The Red Willow County agent, Robert Shick of McCook, reported "some damage, but on the whole conditions are pretty good. We need moisture. If we don't get some moisture things may be tough later on."

When You Take the World-Famous

DALE CARNEGIE COURSE

in Effective Speaking, Human Relations and Basic Salesmanship

More than a third of a million enthusiastic graduates who feared speaking in public were amazed at the ease with which they overcame fear of people, gained poise and confidence. Under the capable guidance of certified Dale Carnegie instructors they learned to express themselves with ease. They were delighted with the friendly atmosphere in the class. And were thrilled with their new ability to remember names and facts, to "think on their feet," and hold the attention of listeners. You can do the same and you will enjoy your experiences in the Dale Carnegie Class.

These comments are typical of what 350,000 enthusiastic graduates say about the Dale Carnegie Course

"When I was elected Mayor of Baltimore in 1943, I said that if I had not taken the Dale Carnegie Course in public speaking, I am convinced that I would not have been elected Mayor, because that course started me on the road to a career in public speaking."

"Now that I have been elected Governor of Maryland, I repeat what I said then—that if I had not taken the Dale Carnegie Course, which gave me my start in public affairs, I would not have been elected Governor of Maryland."

THEODORE R. MCKELDIN
Governor of Maryland

(Governor McKeldin is the man who nominated General Eisenhower for President.)

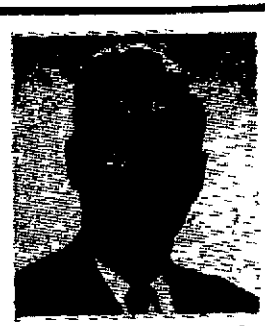

"In 1937, when working as a room clerk at the Roosevelt Hotel in New York, I took the Dale Carnegie Course. That training proved to be the turning point in my career."

"It taught me to analyze situations and people, to make friends, and to plan my progress with a definite objective."

"I was soon promoted from room clerk to chief room clerk. Then I got a big promotion to the position of sales manager. Today I am manager of the Conrad Hilton in Chicago—the world's largest hotel."

ROBERT F. QUINN
General Manager
Conrad Hilton Hotel, Chicago

"I was a truck mechanic for 32 years. Last year, I decided to change my occupation over to selling of trucks. It was pretty rough going. I talked to my boss about it. He was a graduate of the Dale Carnegie Course of the year before. He recommended that I enroll."

"After the first few weeks, I noticed a change in my selling record. At the last of the year, I was the high salesman in the Southern District. I increased my salary from $4,400 to better than $12,000 the first year."

C. SEALS, Salesman
Pace Co., Inc.
Houston, Texas

"For the past five years, I have been teaching Parent Education and Family Living to groups of young mothers. I was conscious of a lack in my lectures."

"As a result of taking the Dale Carnegie Course, I have learned to use the formula for proper organization of my lectures into well-directed and well-pointed talks, which I am able to deliver with spirit and conviction. I feel that many school teachers would benefit by taking the Dale Carnegie Course."

MARGARET DEY, Counselor
Los Angeles Board of Ed.

"When I was taking the Dale Carnegie Course two years ago, I was a cost clerk in Scovill Manufacturing Company. I am now an assistant to the General Manager of the Waterville Division and have more than doubled my income. I didn't think I had it in me."

"Had it not been for you and the Dale Carnegie Course, I am sure I would still be a cost clerk. For the past two years and for the many years of happiness I see ahead of me—thanks from the bottom of my heart."

CHAS. W. MCKEY
Wax Cheshire, Connecticut

"During the first 12 years that I was employed by the Gulf Oil Corporation I worked as stenographer and clerical job. I was elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Elks. I was required to speak throughout the country. The D.C. training proved invaluable."

"In 1952 I was elected Lt. Governor. In speaking recently to an audience of 15,000, I couldn't help recalling the pre-Carnegie days when an audience of 15 would have upset me for days."

EMMETT T. ANDERSON
Lt. Governor
State of Washington

"Taking the Dale Carnegie Course has made a greater contribution to my business and personal success than any other single thing I have done."

"To the individual who approaches the universal problem of developing successful personal traits, success is assured if he approaches it with determination and a fighting spirit. It is doubly assured if he takes the Dale Carnegie Course."

"AT THE CROSSROADS OF LINCOLN"

The Davis Opinion

Five hundred Nebraska REA directors will come to Lincoln March 8 for the annual meeting of the Nebraska Rural Electric Association—an uneasy, questioning group this year. They have watched some of the unfolding of the new policy of the Department of the Interior and pondered the meaning of the department's new power criteria. They have worked hard and well to bring electricity to the farms of Nebraska. Now their hearts are filled with anxious questions.

Is the department turning its back on them?

What is the future of the REA's? Coming from Washington to talk to them—to calm their fears—to win their acceptance of department policy is Fred Aandahl, Assistant Secretary of Interior. With him will be Anchor Nelson, National Administrator of REA. It will be up to Aandahl to show how the new penalty charges for unused contract capacity will neither be a hardship for REA's nor a preventive to expected growth. And he will have to show how more favorable contracting of surplus federal power with the non-preference private utilities will neither force the REA's into higher power charges nor heavy future investments in supplementary power plants of their own.

Perhaps Mr. Aandahl will have convincing answers. Perhaps he will be able to send the 500 Nebraska directors back home relieved of all their concerns, with their questions satisfactorily answered. We doubt it. These rural districts face a real threat.

Public power systems have been preferred customers. Where the federal government has manufactured electric power they have had first crack at it. And later, if they needed more, they could claim it, on adequate notice, even though private power had been using it. The public power agencies insist that such has been their right since the first public power act in 1906.

There is disagreement now on that. If there is any question of Interior's new concept it was cleared up in the January hearing before the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs.

After public power spokesmen, one by one had asserted their traditional claims in criticism of Interior's new power criteria, Clarence A. Davis, Lincoln attorney now solicitor of the Department of the Interior, took the stand and delivered a legal opinion in behalf of his department. His citations included all of the public power legislation since the beginning. And as he construed their intent he made a significant statement. He said:

"It is obvious from the testimony of the witnesses that there exist some very serious misunderstandings on the part of some of the witnesses . . . relating to the responsibilities of the Department of the Interior. It is likewise apparent that there are philosophical differences as to the proper role of the Federal Government in the economy of the electricity industry. I think it is apparent that a large part of the controversy grows out of the basic philosophical and political differences of which the power marketing criteria for the Missouri Basin is only a symbol."

Speaking of the act of 1906 he said, "Here for the first time appears the word 'preference' in connection with the sale of public power . . . this early act gave preference to municipal purposes. It . . . did not create a class of preference customers. It did create a preference for public uses."

With those words Davis washed out the public agencies. Their customers might be preferred, but not them. And their customers could be served either by public or private carriers.

Condition Of Emergency

Gov. Bob Crosby took a look at the number of traffic deaths in Nebraska since the opening day of 1954 and came up with the announcement that a condition of emergency exists.

Of Men And Things

It takes a lot of doing to arouse the New York Times to fighting talk. There could be no better measure of the smoldering sense of wrong which fills the Times at this time than the language it uses in appraising the recent McCarthy development.

The Times came into possession of the statement which Secretary of the Army Stevens had planned to make in his battle with Sen. Joe McCarthy, a statement which was never delivered for reasons known to the public. After reprinting those two opening paragraphs in a lead editorial, the Times says this: "These are the opening paragraphs of the statement Secretary of the Army Stevens was to have made at the hearing scheduled for yesterday morning (last Thursday) but cancelled after the Eisenhower administration had surrendered lock, stock and barrel to Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy. This is the statement that Secretary Stevens ought to have made. 'It is a national disgrace that he failed to make it and that, instead, he capitulated—perhaps unwittingly but certainly unwisely—to Mr. McCarthy in order to preserve a fictitious harmony within the Republican party. What has happened in this case is the abject surrender of the executive branch to the unwarranted interference of a demagogue who in the present instance does represent the legislative branch—and for whom the legislative branch must be responsible. But if the Senate has to take the responsibility for Mr. McCarthy, the President of the United States has to take responsibility for Mr. Stevens.' Then recalling the position Secretary Stevens originally took, the Times adds: 'And then, three days later, the same secretary delivers to the same senator everything that the latter asks, including the body of the commanding general of Camp Kilmer.'"

This is not the language of a partisan, unfriendly critic of the Eisenhower administration. The Times with all of its great influence supported the Eisenhower administration throughout the last presidential campaign, step by step, although it had reason to know from one little experience during the campaign what to expect. It had reason to know that when this man, McCarthy, was to be reckoned with, the President undoubtedly influenced by poor advice would back away.

Harmony is to be much desired. The democratic process at its best is one of conciliation and compromise. But there are at times matters of great concern in which there is no compromise. McCarthyism is one of them. There can be no compromise with McCarthyism if this country is to preserve the freedoms its people cherish. There can be no compromise when the underlying principles of individual freedom are involved. It is not a matter of a little bit of justice, or a little bit of wrong. Either in daily life the individual enjoys the basic freedoms conferred upon him by the Constitution and by its Bill of Rights, or he does not. Either there is a separation of the executive and legislative branches of government—or there is not. No American can enjoy his day in court if his day in court is to be preceded by an enforced appearance before Sen. McCarthy, in which Sen. McCarthy proceeds to take over the functions of judge and jury.

Which is to suggest that as desirable as party harmony is—too great a price can be paid for it by the members of either major political party. There are some things worth fighting for, some things which cannot be compromised, some things wherein party harmony should take a back seat while principle takes over.

Whether there is an emergency or not, the simple fact is that unless more attention is given to safety on the highways in the remaining 10 months of 1954, Nebraska can anticipate its most depressing, grisly year of automobile fatalities. February closed with a total of 54 highway deaths for the first two months in the year, compared with 29 for the similar period in 1953. That is an increase just short of 100 per cent.

What has happened or is happening? Is it a question of more recklessness than previously? Does the trouble itself rest upon the condition of Nebraska highways? Is the present-day automobile, a faster car, in the hands of unthinking drivers in part responsible for this startling increase in fatal automobile accidents?

The matter is at least important enough to merit some attention on the state level. Every step that can be taken to promote safety should be drafted, but in the last analysis safety itself depends in a very large degree upon individual observance.

We would prefer to believe that the record of the first two months, sad as it is, will call the increasingly dangerous highway problem to the attention of the public sufficiently so that the remaining months of the year will show improvement.

Nebraska's Birthday

There was a gray sky overhead Monday, with occasional flakes of snow coming from out of the clouds.

It was Nebraska's 87th birthday, not a venerable age in the life of a state but at least sufficiently advanced to have arrived at maturity. And that is exactly what Nebraska is today. It is no longer is young and inexperienced, no longer uncertain in its steps. It has the ripe satisfaction of maturity.

It is not too early to begin thinking about Nebraska's centennial of statehood. That centennial of statehood can be made to have a real meaning to the people of Nebraska.

In physical area, Nebraska ranks 14th among the 48 states of the Union. In its contribution to the basic food needs of the world, Nebraska stands close to the top, excelled by only four or five other states. Here is a state which in three generations of home-building has moved out in front of older and longer established sister states. Here is a state which in the next 50 to 75 years will play an increasingly important role in the nation's affairs. Nothing could be more foolish than for the young people of Nebraska to sell their own state short when it comes to opportunities over this next half century for most satisfying living.

Diplomatic Bargain

Secretary of State Dulles and his aides will soon be off for South America for the Pan-American conference. Right now the South Americans have a few grudges against the U.S. and Messrs. Dulles et al are not apt to come home with many diplomatic bargains. But we'll bet they'll do all right in one project. They'll have lots of cans of low priced coffee in their luggage. Right now there is real merit in a trip to South America.

U.S. Returning To House-Divided Days

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Robert Stevens, charming wife of the much-belated secretary of the Army was talking to a group of ladies at a social function just a few days before Sen. McCarthy put him on the spot. "My husband," she said, "only agreed to stay in Washington a short time. We can't stay in government too long."

"What you Republicans seem to believe in is government by interlude," interposed Betty Beale, sprightly columnist for the Washington Star. "You seem to think that running the government is something you can learn in one short year and then go off and forget. The Democrats on the other hand make government a career. They know it's a tough job, so they stay and work at it."

Now that Mrs. Stevens' sincere but politically naive husband has been subjected to the most disagreeable McCarthy brain-wash so far given an Eisenhower cabinet member, his disinclination to stay in Washington is not likely to change. It's almost certain that after a discreet lapse of time, he will quietly bow out.

INCREASING U.S. ISOLATION
McCarthy's little league with the Ku Klux Klan days and Sen. Tom Heflin of Alabama has begun to smolder.

PROBLEM NO. 1 is that of getting good men to serve in government. Because of low salaries this has always been difficult. But in view of McCarthy's attacks, it's become even more difficult. No important business executive wants to give up a good job (Stevens surrendered his stock in the largest textile firm in the world) for the doubtful privilege of coming to Washington to get clobbered over the head by McCarthy for something he may know little about.

PROBLEM NO. 2 is even more serious. It's the growing division not of the Republican party but in the nation.

The division is not dissimilar to that which occurred before the disaster of Pearl Harbor, when the American people and knitted them into one team. And as before Pearl Harbor, the division takes two drifts:

Drift No. 1 is that toward isolation. This is a revival of the traditional trend inside the Republican party to erect high tariff barriers, drastically curtail the armed forces, and pull away from the rest of the world.

Herbert Hoover's administration was badly split over isolationism. Eventually the high tariff isolationists helped to wreck the economy. And the international isolationists pulled Hoover far enough away from the liberal Republicans led by Henry L. Stimson, so that they helped precipitate World War II.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Russian Throwback Shown In Buildings

BERLIN—The theory is that architecture reveals a people more than literature, music or any of the arts. The builders of Chartres and the other great cathedrals in France built monuments in every line, every carving testified to a dedication of the spirit rarely seen before or since.

On this supposition, a tourist's trip around East Berlin is a rather frightening experience. For there, amidst the ruins of Berlin's past, the Communist masters have decreed the construction of the new order. It is a chilling and depressing prospect.

In a park along the river Spree, the Russians have built a great war memorial in the center of which 7,500 Russian soldiers killed in the battle of Berlin are buried. This memorial, extending from the kneeling figure of a sorrowing Russian mother to the vast statue of a Russian soldier atop a shaft which in turn caps a stone cenotaph, has two aspects.

One is a crude sentimentality too often found in this type of memorial. The bas-reliefs on a series of marble entablatures that range down both sides of the grand concourse are sentimental representations of the Soviet soldier destroying the beastly Hun. These bas-reliefs also show innocent families being oppressed by the Nazi invader. There are completely without artistic merit as a crude comic strip.

In a small circular room within the cenotaph beneath the huge figure of the idealized soldier are mosaics in primitive colors of each separate nationality in the Soviet Union. These figures are also done with an exaggerated sentimentality; without the kind of stylization that with artistry can ennoble an effort to commemorate a great national tragedy.

The second aspect of the huge memorial is a coldness, a barbaric remoteness that can be compared to the architecture of the Aztecs. Two great, outthrust wings of polished red marble—taken, incidentally, from Hitler's ruined chancellory—have an inhuman, bigger-than-life quality scarcely relieved by hammer and sickle insignia cut into the stone in a scale almost childishly small, as though they had been an afterthought.

RELIGIOUS BITTERNESS

Drift No. 2 is toward intolerance and dissension. Fifteen years ago, the American people were plagued with such breeders of dissension as Gerald Winrod, Fritz Kuhn, William Dudley Pelley, and others who spread hate and poison among their fellowmen.

Today, the Winrods have come out of their holes again and are spreading the same kind of poison. The names are different now—Colonel Williams, Gerald L. K. Smith, the Liberty Bells, the Minute Women. Some of them, such as the boycotting ladies of Texas who prevent any point of view from being discussed except their own, probably don't realize how they are being used.

But the net result is to increase division and dissension among the American people.

Senator McCarthy's Investigations, whether intentional or unintentional, have focused on certain religious groups, thus increasing this dissension. His support of a chief investigator who claimed the Protestant clergy was riddled with Communism, unfortunately set back the co-operation which had been growing between Catholics and Protestants.

But forgetting this fact, religious bitterness reminiscent of the Ku Klux Klan days and Sen. Tom Heflin of Alabama has begun to smolder.

ANTI-SEMITISM

In Boston, the Senate Juvenile Delinquency Committee has just written a report showing how religious prejudice had flared so bitterly that a rabbi, Jacob I. Zuber, was murdered by boys of another religious faith. The Senate report was toned down somewhat, but committee investigators found that part of Boston's juvenile crime resulted from youthful gangs of one religious faith warring on others.

At Fort Monmouth, N.J., religious tolerance was not helped by McCarthy's focusing on Jewish workers for the Signal Corps. Out of 19 people suspended, during or after McCarthy's probe, 17 were Jews, yet not one of them was ever remotely accused of espionage.

One was suspended merely because he had read a book by Max Lerner. Max Lerner is not a Communist, never has been a Communist, is a liberal writer for the New York Post. Yet the Signal Corps employed him as a clerk for a firm of steamboat Canadian and shippers and later established transportation lines on the Mississippi.

N.Y. CENTRAL FIGHT

Recalls Days Of The Titans

(This is the second and last of a series by James L. Kilgallen, International News Service writer on the current fight for control of the New York Central railroad between Robert R. Young, outsider, and William White its president).

NEW YORK—Wall Street, scene of many historic big money battles is again with rapt interest today the spectacular struggle between Robert R. Young and William White for control of the $2,000,000,000 New York Central railroad.

For the first time since the turn of the century, the Street is being thrilled by the Young-White slugfest—a throwback to the titanic battles for power waged by old-time personalities such as J. Pierpont Morgan, James J. Hill, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jay Gould and Edward D. Harriman.

Young and White—both 57 years of age, both colorful fighters with brass-knuckle inclinations—are experienced railroaders with conflicting ideas on how to run a railroad. The $120,000-a-year White is currently the top man in New York Central but Young is after his job. The winner won't be decided until the "showdown" comes at the annual meeting on May 26.

Shades of Hill, Harriman, Morgan and Vanderbilt! How those oldtimers would have liked to be mixed up in a battle royal of this kind! All of them made railroad history in the pioneer days fighting for control of valuable American railroad properties.

They bought into railroads in the years the railroad and time again fought vicious battles with rival interests for the control of carriers. They precipitated an era of "private enterprise" competition without parallel.

Jim Hill, for example, was generally regarded as "king of railroad builders." He helped put the northwest on the map. Canadian-born, he started as a clerk for a firm of steamboat Canadian and shippers and later established transportation lines on the Mississippi.

When the St. Paul Pacific railroad failed in 1937, Hill interceded Canadian capitalists in the road and wound up as its president.

Conquest Of Polio

Lincoln, Neb. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: When the conquest of polio is ultimately realized, high upon the scroll of honor listing those who made the victory possible will be the newspapers of the nation.

It is to thank you and your staff for the particularly valuable public service rendered by The Lincoln Star during the 1954 March of Dimes campaign.

Freedom Of Religion

Lincoln, Neb. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In regard to the footnote to my letter, "Religion In The Senate," in the Feb. 24 Star as you say, these prayers are "surely reflective of American thinking on the subject." Otherwise it would be very improbable that a bunch of politicians would go to a morning prayer meeting and widely advertise same, or our Sunday papers devote up to as much as one-third of the editorial page to religious propaganda.

The uncontrolled reflective thinking of a majority today could easily be the required thinking of all of us tomorrow. And I think it was clearly the intention of the writers of the Constitution to prohibit a majority from imposing their religious views on a minority by precluding any and all religious propaganda from our schools and civil affairs. For without freedom of religion, there can be no freedom of the mind.

If religious propaganda can legally emanate from the Senate, it can emanate from the House, the White House, the FBI, and the Supreme Court—then our schools. I am convinced that any religious propaganda emanating from these sources is unconstitutional and against both the spirit and letter of the law. And as you fairly bear them, the reflective thinking of the American people would continue to uphold, enlarge and strengthen the past opinions of our courts. Prayer should be of the silent personal type or confined to the church or home.

Our Sunday papers should confine religious propaganda to advertisement and label it as such.

RALPH E. ALLEN
Editor's note: The editor of The Star grants Mr. Allen the right to think what he pleases, but disagrees 100 per cent with his attack upon the churches of this country. America would not be a hopeless land—without its churches, and the strong spiritual undertone which its churches contribute.

Look About You

Lincoln, Neb. To the editor of The Lincoln Star: In a recent issue of The Star you published my letter, under the heading "Need For Recreation," in which I stressed the necessity of providing Oak Creek Park with controlled parking areas essential to the safeguarding of our children and the comfort of those seeking relaxation and rest from the busy marts of our city's trade.

Since writing that letter I have been privileged to see an artistically prepared plat depicting the beautification of the area embracing the little triangular tract of 9.48 acres for which the county has no definite plans, but which would prove to be a valuable asset to the proposed Oak Creek Park improvement program as set forth by the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

In London, England, stands the world's renowned St. Paul's Cathedral, designed by the great architect Sir Christopher Wren.

dent. He subsequently became president of the Great Northern railway. The Hill interests also obtained control of the Northern Pacific, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy and other interests, including banks.

In his hey-day Hill used to go about Wall Street and dispose of small lots of Great Northern securities. No man gave stockholders a squarer deal.

John Pierpont Morgan, born in 1837, and his son, J. P. Morgan Jr., born in 1867, were really big-time operators who left their imprint on railroading. Essentially they were Wall Street bankers with Philadelphia, London and Paris connections. At one time they were presumed to be "the richest men in the world."

The Morgan firm reorganized numerous railways, including the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Erie and the Reading, and the Baltimore and Ohio.

Theirs was one of the most powerful banking houses in the world. In 1885 the firm supplied the United States government with $62,000,000 in gold to restore the treasury gold reserve to $100,000,000.

The exploits of Edward D. Harriman were a part of the picturesque pattern of old-time Central stockholders. He once dominated the Illinois Central. His syndicate later acquired the Union Pacific, then in financial straits.

After bringing the Union Pacific out of bankruptcy into prosperity, Harriman drew other lines within his control.

His abortive contest in 1901 with James J. Hill for control of Northern Pacific led to one of the most serious financial crises ever known in Wall Street. At the time of his death in 1909, his influence was estimated to extend over 60,000 miles of track.

Harriman's methods at times excited the bitterest criticism, resulting in a stern denunciation by President Theodore (T.R.) Roosevelt himself in 1907.

Another famous railroad figure of the gilded age was Cornelius Vanderbilt, who started out selling steamships and ended up acquiring railroads.

The old commodore fixed a predatory eye on the very road tification of Oak Creek Park. If this county does not feel amenable to deed the land to the city of Lincoln, then it is hoped they will leave it to the city for a consideration.

According to newspaper accounts, this piece of land will be developed for model airplane enthusiasts among our youth, trap shooting and archery, as well as additional parking space. Lincoln needs more places of recreation. Rome was not built in a day; neither is the development of Oak Creek park materialize overnight. At some day emblazoned on every stone, shrub and tree will be the epitaph, "Look About You," thanks to the Women's Division of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce and, may I add, Lancaster county, too.

Governor Outlines Plan To Check Fatality Hike

A plan of action aimed at checking the startling increase in the number of traffic fatalities recorded in January and February was outlined Monday by Gov. Robert Croshy.

He said he will confer this week with officials of all departments of state government having anything to do with highway travel.

These include Col. C. J. Sanders, chief of the State Patrol; State Engineer L. N. Rens; Supt. Owen Boyles of the Motor Vehicle division; State Supt. F. B. Decker of the Department of Public Instruction, and members of the Railway and Liquor Commissions.

Next Monday, March 8, the governor will talk to members of the Nebraska delegation to the recent White House Conference on Highway Safety. Paul F. Hill, Denver, western field director for the National Safety Council, also is expected to attend the March 8 meeting.

The governor noted that Nebraska's 1954 traffic fatality total for January and February was 54, compared to 29 for the first two months of 1953.

"There is a condition of emergency in Nebraska in connection with the problem of traffic safety," he declared.

"We've got to change our way of doing things. We can't let this go on. Lives are being lost. People are being crippled. It's a tragic situation," the governor declared.

"I don't think any one in state government can simply sit by and not try to devise some more strenuous effort to cope with the problem," he added.

The governor suggested one means would be to increase the number of man-hours which the State Patrol spends on the highways. This may be done, he explained, by relieving the patrol of some of its other duties.

One of the duties imposed on the patrol in recent years has been the operation of the truck weighing stations.

The governor emphasized that education is an important factor.

Not all of the traffic fatalities occur on state highways, either, he pointed out.

Only 37 of the traffic fatalities counted so far this year occurred on state highways. The other 17 were on county roads or city streets.

JUNIATA, Neb.—Word has been received here of the death of Pfc. Robert D. Sergeant, 22, who died as the result of an accidental gunshot wound in Korea. He was the son of Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Sergeant of Juniata.

Pfc. Sergeant was due to return to the U.S. in July. In addition to his parents, he is survived by a sister, Carol Faye.

Pretty Traffic Hazards

SAN PEDRO, Calif. (AP)—What traffic officers have suspected as a cause of automobile accidents was confirmed here by a 14-year-old boy. The youth, unidentified, took his mother's car without her permission, then smashed his auto into a parked car, police said. The boy's reason for the crackup—he took his eyes off the road "to look at two good-looking girls."

355 Of 1,782 Security Cases Fired By U.S. Had 'Subversive Data' In Files

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman Philip Young of the Civil Service Commission told Congress Monday that 355 out of 1,782 "security" separations in the government last year involved persons with subversive data in their files.

The long-awaited breakdown—classifying the suspects as alleged subversives, sex perverts, criminals and persons with other derogatory backgrounds—came after weeks of public outcry by Democrats for detailed information on the subject.

President Eisenhower said in his State-of-the-Union message to Congress in January that 2,000 government workers had been let out under the new security program he ordered into effect in April, 1953.

Eisenhower gave no breakdown, however, nor was there any from his administration, showing how many were ousted for loyalty reasons.

Democrats on both sides of Capitol Hill have charged that some Republican speakers were trying to put the idea that most of the 2,000 were Communists or subversives left over from the Truman administration.

"Terminations"

Young supplied Monday's breakdown to Chairman Rees (R-Kan.) of the House Civil Service Committee at Rees' request.

The total of 1,782 firings and resignations does not include 211 "terminations" and 231 resignations in the Defense Department.

Young said details of the defense separations would be furnished later.

In all, Young's report listed 2,008 showings of security risk outside of the Defense Department. But some of these fell in more than one category, as for instance a loose talker who was also an incontinent drinker.

Here is the breakdown of the 2,008 security findings:

1. "Information of a subversive nature"—355.
2. Sex perverts—190.
3. Felonies or misdemeanors—504.
4. Other unspecified causes—859.

Young said the list covered a seven-month period between May 28 and Dec. 31, 1953, and included 983 persons who were fired and 1,241 who resigned, including those in the Defense Department.

9 Dead On WAL Airliner

... Long Search Ends

NEWCASTLE, Wyo. (AP)—The search for a missing Western Air Lines plane ended Monday in rugged ranch country—all nine persons aboard dead and plane and bodies ground to bits.

The stormbound plane had hit with terrible force on a comparatively flat stretch of ground just south of a ridge of hills in an area broken by ravines and steep bluffs.

The wreckage of the Los Angeles-to-Minneapolis Convair 240, missing since Friday, was sighted from the air Sunday and ground searchers reached it Monday morning.

Floyd Sparks, manager of radio station KASL at Newcastle, said there was hardly a piece of wreckage "that a man couldn't pick up with one hand. There is no piece standing more than two feet above ground."

Don Shasteen, a reporter for the Casper Tribune-Herald, said: "Fragments of flesh and bone were scattered over the area in the blackened snow."

Father Identified

"Long strips of film, undoubtedly part of the plane's cargo, fluttered from the branches of a cottonwood tree in the cold morning wind."

The crash occurred in north-eastern Wyoming oil and ranching country, about 40 miles southwest of Newcastle.

One of the searchers was Keith Anderson of San Luis Obispo, Calif., the son of Vincent Anderson of Sturgis, S. D., a passenger. He found the broken body of his father, recognizing it by the shirt.

About three inches of snow covered the ground and partly hid the wreckage and more snow fell Monday.

George Nelson, Wyoming director of aeronautics, estimated that the plane may have carried as much as 800 gallons of gasoline and this apparently exploded after the plane crashed.

None of the passengers or crew were Nebraskans.

66 Terrorists Killed

Water pollution committee of the Legislative Council will hold a public hearing Saturday, March 20, at the court house in Gering it was announced Monday. Sen. George Syas of Omaha is chairman of the eight member committee.

McLeod's Activities Are Trimmed

WASHINGTON (AP)—R. W. Scott McLeod Monday lost the hiring-firing authority he had called "inseparable" from his security duties at the State Department.

A department announcement said Secretary Dulles had ordered McLeod relieved of personnel matters at once. He remains in charge of security and consular affairs.

Edward T. Wailles, assistant secretary for administration, was placed in charge of personnel. The change, besides the power to hire and fire, involves a shift of 277 workers in the personnel office.

McLeod was the center of a political storm less than three weeks ago. He made five speeches for the Republican National Committee despite outcries, mainly from Democrats in Congress, that a security officer had no business in partisan politics.

Hatch Act

The "Lincoln Day" speaking tour was frowned on by the Civil Service Commission. It ruled McLeod was subject to the Hatch Act barring federal workers from political activity.

However, the commission said it had no jurisdiction in McLeod's case.

The State Department legal office held he was exempt from the act because his pay, $15,000 a year, and status are equivalent to that of an assistant secretary, an exempt job.

Henry Suydam, State Department press officer, told newsmen the shift of power was in line with a recommendation by a non-partisan business analysis firm. He named it as the Heller Corp. of Cleveland and said its study begun several months ago, is continuing.

"Inseparable"

The Heller recommendations aside, some top State Department officials are known to have opposed the dual nature of McLeod's job. Their argument has been that it is impossible to be both a personnel and a security officer. They say the jobs conflict.

But McLeod told a House Appropriations Subcommittee he feels otherwise. In testimony taken last Jan. 27 and released last Tuesday, he said:

"I maintain, and our experience tends to prove, that security and personnel are inseparable functions. It was on this premise that I accepted the post... and have attempted to clean up and clear out the chaos which existed in the security office early last year."

McLeod could not be reached for comment Monday. His office said, even before a question was asked, "Mr. McLeod will have no comment."

Reduced Gas Rate To Be Discussed

A possible reduction in natural gas rates will be discussed at a Wednesday meeting of Central Electric and Gas Co. officials with the City Council.

The reduction would come as a result of a cut in wholesale rates to Central from Northern Natural Gas Co. of Omaha. The Federal Power Commission cut back the rates proposed by Northern under four separate applications for increases but still granted a substantial boost. Thus, any reduction in retail rates here is expected to be small. A 14.75 per cent increase in rates went into effect with Council approval last Dec. 29.

3rd 'A' Cannon Unit To Leave U.S. Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army announced Monday that a third atomic cannon battalion will be sent to Europe within the next few months.

The new unit, equipped with 280 MM guns capable of firing either conventional or atomic shells is now stationed at Ft. Sill, Okla. It numbers between 500 and 600 men and will man six of the big guns when it moves into its undisclosed defense position in Europe.

The United States command in Europe recently announced that two atomic gun battalions were already on the scene, the 868th and the 269th.

When the third battalion arrives in Europe the United States and North Atlantic Treaty Alliance commands will have at their disposal a total of 18 of the big pieces.

Three Assessment Objections Vetoed

Objections to the assessments in three special improvement districts have been overruled by the Board of Equalization.

The Board approved the assessments in water and sewer districts along Mohawk from 45th to 46th which had been protested by the Christ Methodist Church. The Church, which already has water and sewer service, was assessed $752.67 for water and $733.86 for sewer against property it plans to use for a parking lot and playground.

Also overruled was the protest to assessments in the paving of the east-west alley south of Court from 12th to 14th. Attorney Max Kier had objected to the $135.95 assessment against Peter H. and Millie Bitter and the $88.30 assessment against John Koehler.

Stevens To Testify For McCarthy; Joe Accuses Young GI Of Contempt

WASHINGTON (INS)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's subcommittee accused a young soldier of contempt Monday and announced Secretary Robert T. Stevens will testify Thursday on the Army policy of discharging Communists under honorable conditions.

Meanwhile, Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland, (Calif.) denied reports that President Eisenhower had acted to keep McCarthy from conducting "one-man" hearings. Knowland, who conferred with Mr. Eisenhower, added that it would be "entirely proper" for the President to take such action.

The subcommittee unanimously voted to recommend a contempt citation against Pvt. David Linfield, of New York City, who refused to answer questions about alleged Communist affiliations.

Linfield's lawyer, Morton Friedman, said his client declined to co-operate with the Wisconsin Republican "because of his opinion that McCarthy continuously violates constitutional rights," Friedman added. "This poor G.I. was put in the middle of the battle between the senator and the Army."

"Loaded on Truck"

The attorney added that Linfield, stationed at Fort Dix, N.J., was "suddenly loaded on an Army truck" Saturday and taken to Fort Myer, Va., near Washington, on "temporary duty." Friedman said the "temporary duty" appeared to be a closed-door appearance before the McCarthy subcommittee.

The lawyer declared that Linfield, when he was drafted last April, "answered all these questions of the Army and did not use the Fifth Amendment"—the constitutional privilege against self-incrimination which he invoked before the McCarthy group.

McCarthy's decision to question Stevens Thursday was made at the suggestion of John G. Adams, Army legal counsel.

Adams made the suggestion when McCarthy said he was "disturbed and deeply puzzled" by the Army discharge policy concerning active and former Communists.

This came after Sid Rubenstein, 23, who admitted previous affiliation with the Young Communist League, testified the Army gave him a "general discharge under honorable conditions" Feb. 18. He said he was informed he was being separated because of his Communist record.

Rubenstein added: "I am not a Communist now. Far from it."

February Liquor Revenue Falls Off

Revenue for February was $159,557 as compared with the $162,164 last year, the State Liquor Commission announced Monday. The collections in January were $199,233.

Revenue for the first two months this year is slightly above the same period last year with $358,850 as compared with $304,094.

Spirituos liquor was the largest revenue producer at $96,359 an increase over the $75,146 last year. Beer revenues of $41,972 were a slump from the $66,831 of last year. Revenue from wines showed a slight increase.

Electrical Inspectors Hold Annual Convention

Eighty inspectors representing 43 cities held the first annual convention of the Nebraska chapter of the International Association of Electrical Inspectors at the Lincoln Hotel Monday.

The all-day session was devoted to instructive and panel discussions for improved inspection. Don H. Venter, Lincoln state chapter president presided over the sessions which were managed by L. S. Crain, deputy state fire marshal and association secretary-treasurer.

The association exists for the prevention of fires and accidents from electrical causes and for the improvement of the standards of inspection.

Hereford Event Stated This Week

RED CLOUD, Neb. (INS)—Fifty-six head of purebred Hereford cattle from herds in south-central Nebraska and north-central Kansas have been entered in the eighth annual Republican Valley Breeders Association show and sale, scheduled for Thursday and Friday at Red Cloud.

Chet Thompson, of McCook, Neb., will judge the 39 bulls and 17 cows, including both polled and horned cattle.

The animals will be sold Friday at the Red Cloud sale barn by Auctioneer Charles Corkle.

A June Bride-to-Be

MISS BETTIE JANE SIMON

The engagement of Miss Bettie Jane Simon to Jerome P. Grossman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Grossman of Omaha, is announced this morning by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Simon.

The wedding is planned for June. Miss Simon attended art school in Kansas City and Chicago, and is a graduate of the Betty Bond School of Modeling.

Mr. Grossman received his Bachelor of Science in commerce, and his Bachelor of Laws degree from Creighton University, Omaha, and his Master of Laws degree from New York University. He also attended Biarritz American University in Biarritz, France. During World War II he served with the 12th Armored Division in the European theater, and has a reserve commission as captain on the Judge Advocate General's staff. He now is engaged in the practice of law in Omaha.

NOW we're right on the edge of one of the busiest months of the year—not from a social standpoint, particularly—more on the organization side—This is the month of nominating committees, new officers—annual meetings, plans for state conventions, and the dozen and one things that make the life of a club woman a busy one. It would seem that the social activity is reserved for April—quite proper and fitting, too, since Lent begins tomorrow. However, before the Lenten season is over there are to be numerous weddings which will be preceded by a deluge of courtesies for the brides-to-be—and so it goes—

ABWA Chapter To Make Tour

The members of the Lincoln Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will meet for a 6:30 o'clock dinner, Friday evening, at Kopper Kettle.

Following a short meeting, a vocational talk will be given by Mrs. Lena Williams, after which the group will tour the new telephone building.

JUST heard that David Andrews, who has been associated with a local TV station, left on Saturday for Chattanooga, Tenn., where he has accepted a position as production manager for WDEF-TV. Wondered what would happen to the Hayloft Theater in Mr. Andrews' absence—Hear that plans already have been made for the theater's fifth summer season.

TWO members of the lollypop crowd had a big week-end—One of them was Miss Debbie Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Chapin, who celebrated her second birthday anniversary on Friday. In honor of the evening five of Debbie's contemporaries and their mothers were invited for an informal birthday party.

ALTHOUGH Monday, March 1, was the official anniversary for Miss Susan Edwards, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Donald Edwards, the young sub-deb did her celebrating on Saturday evening when members of the family were the guests of Susan and her parents at dinner at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Edwards, in honor of the second birthday.

FROM Lexington has come news of the birth of a daughter,

Marylouise, to Mr. and Mrs. Duane Hatfield on Monday, Feb. 22. Mrs. Hatfield, the former Jean Van Auker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Van Auker of McCook—is a Delta Gamma at Nebraska. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hatfield of Lexington are the paternal grandparents.

BUT Lincoln more or less is basking in reflected glory as far as the young Miss Hatfield is concerned, too—the young lady happens to be the first great-grandchild of Mrs. W. B. Comstock.

HAD you heard that Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert Untersehr and their family have a new address? They have—and it is 4850 Bryan Circle.

A FLASH from the homecomers' front tells us that Dr. and Mrs. J. E. M. Thomson are back in town after a month's stay on the West Coast. Dr. and Mrs. Thomson, with the exception of a few days spent in Mexico, devoted their time to San Diego, Cal., and their son-in-law and daughter, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Kreischler—plus, of course, the grandchildren.

HAVE to turn backward for a moment and catch up on some Saturday activity—Understand that Mrs. B. R. Hoover was a tea hostess between the hours of 3 o'clock and 5 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, when she entertained 50 guests in courtesy to Miss Patricia Wright, whose marriage to Mrs. Hoover's son, James Bruce Hoover will be solemnized on May 22.

JUST happened to think that the Groundhog will be out in circulation again come another two weeks—Silly boy. He has slept through four weeks of beautiful weather, and when his alarm goes off two weeks hence he'll probably wake up to face a raging blizzard.

Altrusa New Officers

The Altrusa Club of Lincoln elected Mrs. Esther Lamborn president Monday evening at the regular dinner-meeting of the club held at the University Club.

The members also elected Mrs. Betty Sheaff, vice president; Miss Helen Stacy, secretary; Miss Florence Atwood, treasurer; and Miss Julia Vetter, director. Mrs. Ethel Long, outgoing president, will become a member of the board in an advisory capacity, and Mrs. Doris Cihlar will continue her term as director.

The program included shop talks by Mrs. Mary Archer, state supervisor of employment, and Miss Louise Nixon of the state library, after which the club initiated two new members, Mrs. Velma Hodder and Mrs. Norma Vermaas.

Today's Artist

VIRGINIA BANKS

We Hear That --

Returning home last week were Mr. and Mrs. David Breslow who spent the last three weeks on a combined business and vacation trip to the west coast. Their trip by car included visits at San Francisco, Calif., and at Las Vegas, Nev.

Mr. and Mrs. Mack Pachman have returned home from a three weeks vacation trip to Phoenix, Ariz., where they were the guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Robinson, and grandsons, Ralph Irvin and Michael David.

Visiting at Gresham last week were Mrs. R. L. Lucke and daughter, Kathy Sue, who were the guests of Mrs. Lucke's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lindstrom.

State, Lincoln Dental Auxiliaries Meet

Meeting in Lincoln Monday afternoon at the Hotel Cornhusker were officers of the Nebraska Dental Association Auxiliary who discussed plans for the group's annual spring convention to be held at the Hotel Fontenelle in Omaha, May 9, 10 and 11.

and Mrs. Ralph McGoggin (center), vice president. Mrs. P. L. Evans, outgoing president, conducted a short meeting and the evening was spent informally. Guests were officers of the State Dental Association Auxiliary.

Red Cross

Mrs. Walter J. Mitchell of the Red Cross Gray Ladies was in charge of entertainment at two events this past week at Lincoln's State Hospital.

At a chapel service, Frank Schultz presented a musical program with Miss Josephine Waddell as his accompanist. At the patients' monthly birthday party Mrs. and Mrs. C. K. Lacey presented a program on national dances from different countries.

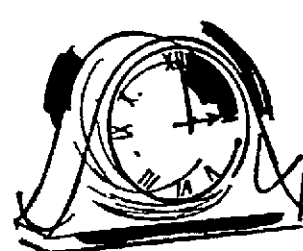

Toastmistress Club Program

The last in the series of speech contests of the Lincoln Toastmistress Club was held Monday evening when the club met for dinner at the Capital Hotel. The contest finals will be at the next meeting of the club on March 15.

Contest chairman is Mrs. Josephine Eyen, and included among the speakers Monday evening were Miss Cora Mae Briggs, "Highways Can Be Happy Ways"; Mrs. Esther Tyler, "Wonderful Town"; Miss Mercedes Ames, "How Much Love"; and Mrs. Roy Sheaff, "For Thine Is The Glory".

Serving as judges were John Freeman, Clyde Johnson and Miss Mamie Meredith. Mrs. Helen Calcaterra served as chairman of tellers, and presiding at the meeting was Miss Annie Laurie Smith, club president.

POSTCARD

From Guam

At midnight, six hours out of Manila, we landed smoothly on Guam. So smoothly I did not stir in my berth. Up in the driver's seat, however, Captain Tiger Young was running out of runway.

The DC6B is usually halted by pulling back the throttles and reversing the propellers. There is a safety gate so you cannot haul the throttles back in flight. It releases when the wheels hit the ground. In this case the gate had not released. And it is considered very bad form to run off the runway.

"It appears they are making these runways shorter every year," said the Tiger.

He thereupon reached for the brake. It requires a good deal of pressure to slow down a big airplane. The rubber simply peeled off all four tires.

They went flat quietly and I never woke. If it had not been for the flat tires, I would never have known about the dancehall ladies of Guam.

About three in the morning, I woke up and went outside. And there we were, floodlighted on the end of the runway.

A Navy patrol plane was dropping overhead. Waiting for flares to be lit on another runway. A jeep took me over to the little terminal. Somehow in the middle of the night, Philippine Air Lines had managed to locate sandwiches and coffee.

All the other passengers had been put to bed somewhere. And I sat around with a Guamanian ground crewman. Drinking coffee while the tropic dawn came up all rose and blue under a bank of black velvet clouds.

"I guess you know Jimmy Kaanehe, he's a Hawaiian promoter, brought 300 dancehall girls out from Los Angeles," he said.

I said when I came through Guam before, I had clipped a local newspaper. It said taxi dancing might be banned. "A bill which may yet bring untold remorse to Filipino males on the island," was the way it was written.

"Well, they passed the law," said the Guamanian. "But it did not work out just like they expected."

He said Navy contractors had brought 16,000 Filipinos to Guam. And Jimmy Kaanehe's six dancehalls did a booming business.

"The dance lasted two minutes and the man paid 50 cents. The girl got 30 cents." He said the dancehall ladies were housed in a barracks with a big sign "No Visitors." But there was also a rear entrance. And a good many ladies appeared to be giving private dancing lessons after hours.

"The Filipinos were spending so much money they had no money to send home to their wives. And after awhile the Filipino wives began to write letters to the Guam authorities."

The Guamanian said the women's civic clubs of Guam got together. They said the situation was "a challenge to public health and morals."

The Guam legislature thereupon passed a law against the dancehalls.

"But all it did," said the Guamanian smiling, "was to give the dancehall ladies more time to spend on private dancing lessons. And the Filipino workmen spend as much as ever."

I asked why they did not send the ladies back to the States.

"Because," said the Guamanian, "they are United States citizens on United States territory."

"And," he said, "every lady was cleared by Navy security before she was allowed on Guam."

Out on the flare path, the Navy search plane landed. A black streak against the pink sky and the silhouette coco palms.

And as near as I could see, everything was secure on Guam. (McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Assessment Time Here; 'Spot Checking' Policy To Be Announced

(First Of A Series)
By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Assessment time is here again. What will this one be like? Lancaster County officials, remembering the confusion and sudden surprises of the 1953 assessment and equalization period, are not venturing far afield for comment at the moment.

Said Russell Brehm, county equalization board chairman, "We'll have to wait and see," but added that the property owner-taxpayer would be fully advised on the county level at all times.

Two Announcements
Two such pronouncements will probably come prior to March 10—beginning of the assessing period.

The county commissioners, who are ex-officio the board of equalization, have indicated (1) that they will have a talk with the county's assistant assessors and (2) that they will announce a policy as to whether or not individual and business schedules will be "spot checked" by the board.

Both actions as proposed are unprecedented in recent years. But the causes behind these two moves are as equally as unprecedented.

Gov. Robert Crosby has asked to talk with the county's assistant assessors in connection with his "Operation Honesty" campaign for full returns on personal property.

'Instructional Words'
This talk has been scheduled for March 9, when County Assessor Arthur Davis assembles his 70 city and rural assistant assessors at the Courthouse for final instructions and distribution of supplies.

The commissioners have indicated they will probably have a "few instructional words" for the assessors, also.

Likewise, in recent years the commissioners as equalization board members have not spot checked individual schedules.

Brehm tossed the "spot check" question out at a recent commissioner's meeting. Whether we do or we don't, he said, the people should know our intentions by March 10.

Enforcement Needed
Commissioner Chauncey Barney agreed, but added:

"If a policy to spot check is announced, it will have to be strictly enforced. Failure to do otherwise would only have the effect of penalizing the honest taxpayer and allowing the dishonest one to follow in his old paths."

But individual and business schedules are probably in for closer scrutiny this year.

Personal property dropped a "net $4 million assessed value" last year despite a 50 per cent boost to certain household and personal items and a 40 per cent business schedule increase by the state board of equalization.

If personal property was not carrying its full share of the tax load, as "Operation Honesty" backers contend, the gap was widened even more last year.

Close Watch
County officials will keep close watch on personal property valuations, but what action will be taken to guard against valuation losses this year has not been clearly indicated.

First indications of a course of action may come in the assistant assessor talks, and later in a "spot check" policy announcement.

On the assessing level, County Assessor Arthur Davis believes progress has been made in the past year in the "assessing tools."

First, the 1954 individual schedule has been more completely itemized into additional categories. Second, a more realistic depreciation schedule has been devised and dispensed with "minimum tables" for such items as refrigerators, televisions sets, stoves and pianos.

Next article: The 1954 individual personal property assessment schedule.

Pen Inmate's Writ Signed By Judge

Federal Judge John W. Delehant has signed an order in the writ of habeas corpus application of Paul Richard Small, a penitentiary inmate, directing Warden Herbert H. Hann to appear in court Thursday, March 4, with Small.

Small contends he is being illegally confined, claiming his maximum possible imprisonment legally expired March 11, 1953.

The inmate was sentenced to seven years for forgery from Douglas County and an additional year for escape. After serving 49 months, the State Board of Pardons and Paroles commuted the sentence as of then, he states. He was placed on parole, but was returned for parole violation.

Small filed a similar action with the Lancaster District

People Are Honest?

OXFORD, N. C. (U)—The Oxford Chamber of Commerce, assuming people are honest, dreamed up a good will-building plan for careless motorists. When policemen saw a car by a parking meter on which the time had run out, they would put in a nickel and leave a note asking the driver to repay the chamber instead of paying a traffic fine. The plan was dropped after a one-week trial. About the only people putting money in the meters were the policemen, and strangers who didn't know the police would.

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—The Missouri Tigers moved into a tie for fourth place in the Big Seven basketball standings by soundly beating Nebraska's Cornhuskers, 82-67, Monday night.

The Tigers roared away to an 11-2 lead in the first three minutes of play and found the going relatively easy the rest of the way.

Nebraska never got close as Missouri led 19-9 at the end of the

Jayhawks Top Buffs, 83-62

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—The Kansas Jayhawks closed in on their third straight Big Seven basketball title Monday night with an 83 to 62 victory over Colorado's game but outclassed Buffaloes.

The game was delayed by 21 minutes in the last quarter by a power failure in the auditorium.

It was Kansas' 28th straight victory at home and brought the Jayhawkers conference record to 10-1 and their season mark to 16-4.

Colorado, which won 70-62 in the first meeting of the two teams in early February, now has a Big Seven record of 9-2 and remains in the running for a share of the league crown.

The Buffaloes finish with Kansas State at Boulder Saturday. Kansas completes its season against Missouri at Columbia next Monday.

Araujo Wins TKO In Sixth Round

BOSTON (AP)—Lightweight Boxing Contender George Araujo of Providence, R. I., at 139 1/2, the heaviest of his career, hammered out a six round technical knockout victory over outclassed Curley Monroe, 137 1/2, of Worcester, Monday night in a scheduled 10-rounder in Mechanics Building.

Araujo—campaigning for another title fight with Lightweight King Jimmy Carter, who whipped him in a championship match last year—started slowly, but then banged Monroe at will.

Referee Tommy Rawson stepped in and halted the bout at 2:31 of the sixth round as Monroe reeled helplessly against the ropes with cuts over both eyes and blood pouring from his nose.

The two boxers staged a furious 10-round, five-knockdown slugfest in the same hall a month ago, with Araujo gaining a unanimous verdict.

Jackson Beats Out Win Over Henry

BROOKLYN, N. Y. (AP)—Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson of Rockaway Beach, N. Y., pounded out a sensational 10-round unanimous decision over eighth-ranked heavyweight Clarence Henry of Los Angeles at the Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night.

Jackson weighed 194 1/2, Henry 182.

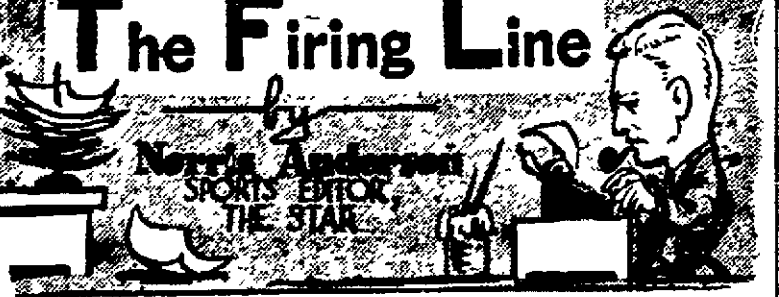

Referee Ray Miller, who warned both fighters for low blows, took the seventh round away from Henry.

The 22-year-old Jackson started out fast in the televised bout, using a left hook to the body and a right hook to the head to pile up the points.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—Skipper

Patrick, the Associated Press misspelled, is unofficial mayor of this village.

The Skipper, sub. stems from Mississippi, you-all and was once publicity director at the University of Missouri.

He claims non-partisanship, but we always feel his old cotton pickin' heart belongs at Mizou.

Skipper was during the Big Seven indoor meet of his recent invasion of Columbia an interview with Don Faurot, the view with Don Faurot, the split-T inventor there. Since his football down there. Since his football down there. Since his football down there.

Wide Variance In Reaction Of Fans To Ted's Chances

BOSTON (AP)—Reaction of baseball fans hereabouts to the news Ted Williams had suffered a fractured collar bone ranged from the gloomy "That's his finish" to the optimistic "He'll be back."

"What? What's that, Williams broke his shoulder? That's bad, probably finish him," said the man behind Boston's busiest soda bar.

"That's tough, just back after Korea and the team looks as if it has a chance. How old is he, 33? I'm afraid he won't be himself again for baseball."

In contrast the little old gent who's been a baseball fan almost since the American League began here more than a half century ago said firmly, "He'll be back."

The elderly fan went on, "Didn't the boy lose two or three years in World War II and then get yanked back to fly over Korea and come back late last year and put on a great show?"

And he asked, "Didn't he break his left elbow in the last star game in Chicago in 1950 and didn't he get back into the Sox lineup that fall?"

Williams pinch hit for the Sox Sept. 7 that year.

Another hopeful fan also reminded that Williams suffered an ankle injury in 1941 and queried "Wasn't that the year he batted over .400?"

He was right, too. Williams missed the first few games that season and went on to bat .406, the last player to do so and the first in many years.

Then there were the usual minority of cynics, characterized by one who said:

"Well, now he won't have to play in all those exhibition games that he hates so much."

But even that cynic admitted "I have to take my hat off to the guy, though, and I'll probably see him out there (left field in Fenway Park) before May rolls around."

Fritz Is Signed

CINCINNATI (AP)—Don Fritz, co-captain and end on the 1953 University of Cincinnati football team, disclosed Monday he has signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Pro Football League.

Fritz, who stands six feet, three inches tall and weighs 215 pounds, caught 11 passes for 238 yards and three touchdowns during Cincinnati's ten-game 1953 schedule.

Cathedral Pressed, Teachers Forced To Rally

Bluebirds, Tutors Win District Openers

GAMES TONIGHT
6:30 p.m.—College View vs. Omaha Westside.
8 p.m.—Wahoo vs. David City.

BY BILL FITZGERALD
Star Sports Staff Member
WAHOO—Teachers College High and Cathedral survived the first round of the Class B district basketball tournament here Monday night, the Tutors with little trouble and the Bluebirds by a two-point margin.

Teachers beat a deliberate Schuyler offense, 61-42, with a second-quarter rally. Cathedral nipped Ashland, 59-57, but had to hold a big first-quarter lead to do it.

Teachers will meet Cathedral at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the semifinals.

Accurate set shooting, an effective fast break and control of the boards during the last half sent top-seeded Teachers past a Schuyler team which held an 11-10 first-quarter lead, faded during the second period before Teachers' offense, then rallied and almost caught the Lincoln club early in the fourth quarter.

Two baskets by Hal Rowe, three by Jerry McKay, and two by Bob Kaminski on last breaks kept Teachers ahead 25-13 early in the second period. They never lost the lead but Hans Arps, the small Schuyler captain worried them in the fourth period when he stole the ball three straight times and went in for layups.

He pulled Schuyler to 40-34 before big Jim Thom finally began to hit for the Tutors. Thom got two tip-ins, added six more points within a few minutes and Teachers was out of danger. He started most of the Tutors' fast-break patterns.

Hal Rowe was the Tutors' leader. He scored one more point than Thom and many of his shots came when Teachers needed them. Roger Kaltenberger was excellent on the boards and McKay was an outstanding defensive player.

Arps led Schuyler with 21 points and played a sparkling defensive game.

Teachers had a good 45% field goal average on 25 baskets out of 55 attempts. Rowe and Thom each hit at a 42% clip. McKay made 44% of his shots and Kaltenberger made 37%.

A late Ashland spurt almost caught Cathedral after the Bluebirds held a 51-40 lead in the last quarter.

Frank Sims and Wes Lowell of Ashland started a push which almost wiped out the Cathedral lead.

The Birds saw their lead trimmed to three points within minutes. Sims scored twice on a set shot and a fast break play and Lowell followed with a basket which made the score 52-49 as the game went into the final three minutes.

Cathedral regained a five-point lead and Allen Parks hit a free throw to make the score 59-53. Lowell's basket made the score 59-55. Bluejay Bill Schwenke missed two free throws and then made two to bring the score to 59-57.

Ashland had the ball out of bounds as the game ended and there wasn't time to set up a scoring play.

Cathedral started out with a blistering 19-point first quarter. That big early production provided the cushion the Bluebirds needed, as they were outscored in the last three periods.

Four Bluebird regulars did outstanding jobs against Ashland. Center Bill Frappia's rebounding was fine. Fred Schneider hit some good long shots and Darwin Jennings' steady point production totalled 15 at the end, good for Cathedral scoring honors. Parks played a good floor game before fouling out late in the game.

Omaha's hot Indians hit the bucket at a 44% clip in the first half and had Wesleyan on the run in the third period when they held a 14-point lead.

Bob Mackie, former Tech High ace, made seven out of nine long two-handed set shots in the first half. His 17 points led Omaha to a 49-37 halftime bulge over the Plainsmen, who were hitting at a fair 34% pace at that time.

Omaha pushed the advantage to 51-37 in the third period before the firemen came to the rescue.

Willoughby did a personal extinguishing job on the sizzling Mackie, guarding him closely in the second half and holding him to nine points. He scored six points and Lightbody scored 11 in the third period as Wesleyan started to come back.

Omaha led 63-58 at the end of the third period. Wesleyan continued to hammer away until Fredstrom made two baskets and two free throws to give Wesleyan a 69-67 lead.

Mackie countered with two baskets, making it 71-69 Omaha. Sheary then tied it again with a basket and sent Wesleyan ahead for good with two free throws that upped the score to 73-71.

Wesleyan went into its semi-stall and Lightbody made six free throws out of six attempts as the Plainsmen glided away.

Lightbody had 25 points for the winners. Willoughby got 20, Fredstrom 12, Sheary nine and red-headed fire chief Foster McGuire got 15.

In the other game, Chadron's Larry Lytle scored 15 points to pace the Eagles in a 50-38 win over Hastings. Chadron and Wesleyan will meet at 8 tonight for the right to represent Nebraska in the Kansas City NAIA tournament.

'Old' War Horse Of Ski Fame Makes Comeback After Injury

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP)—Art Devlin, the "old" war horse of American ski jumping, is hot on the comeback trail after a seven-year bout with an injured knee.

At 31, the Lake Placid veteran is having one of his best years in a sport that is crammed with competitors who weren't even born when Devlin won his first competition—in 1931 at the age of 8.

This hardy pioneer has beaten North American Champion John Riismies five times this season and hopes to regain the crown from the young Norwegian at Portland, Ore., later this month.

Devlin won his fifth major crown of the season when he defeated a star-studded field in the Nansen Ski Club's international championship at Berlin, N.H.

And, with his knee as good as new for the first time since 1947, Art figures he has "six or eight" more years of competition in him before he nails his skis on the wall of his crowded trophy room.

Since he began jumping 27 years ago, at the age of 4, Devlin has collected almost every ski jumping title in the book short of a world or an Olympic championship.

He is a four-time U.S. National Champion — 1942, 1946, 1949 and 1950 — and scored a grand slam in 1949 and 1950 by adding the Canadian title, bad knee and all.

His tremendous 307-foot leap at Steamboat Springs, Colo., in 1950 still stands as the longest American jump. But his 416-foot leap at Oberstdorf, Germany, in

Wrestlers Kitzelman, Bryant Only Vets Absent

By NORRIS ANDERSON
Sports Editor, The Star

A vote of confidence in almost complete attendance was forwarded Coach Bill Glassford by his football squad Monday as spring drills opened at the University of Nebraska.

Only the weather did not cooperate as a total of 69 gridders, including all of the veteran players who signed the "oust Glassford" statement in January except Tackle Max Kitzelman and Guard Charley Bryant, reported for duty.

Bryant and Kitzelman are regulars on the Husker wrestling squad, which will wind up the season, March 13, in the Big Seven meet. While Kitzelman is reportedly Army-bound, Bryant is expected to report.

Otherwise, all of the undergraduates who signed the statement, were in football gear. All will give full attention to football except Dieters Rolston and Dennis Korinek, who will divide their time with the baseball team.

Wet grounds forced the Huskers to work out in the Henry F. Schulte indoor arena. A one-hour meeting between Glassford, his assistants and the squad preceded the workout.

"We hope to get outdoors today," commented Glassford, who seemed pleased over the banner turnout.

Glassford emphasized to the press that every player would be given the same opportunity and none of the statement signers would be penalized.

Among the reporters were six lettermen whose names appeared on the statement declaring the removal of Glassford was "a must." They are Quarterback Dan Brown (1952); Center Bob Oberlin; Fullbacks Bob Smith and Jim Yessley (1951-52); Tackle Dier Rolston (1952); Korinek, End Andy Loehr; Guard Bob Wagner and Jon McWilliams, who was a late-season running spark, did not sign the statement. McWilliams, a mainstay of Coach Ed Weir's track team, will finish spring football before outdoor track sessions are under way.

Among those statement-signers reporting who saw considerable service in 1953, but did not letter, were Quarterback Rex Fischer, End Sylvester Harris and Tackle Bill Holloran.

The only frosh signers not reporting were Center Joe Kobza, Ulysses who did not give a reason; Halfback Dick Harkins, who has transferred to Colorado, and Halfback Franklin Reeves, who has been drafted.

"The job of our coaches is to provide the medium for skills of our players to improve," Glassford said, adding, "We intend to put the best team on the field that is possible."

The only obvious squad changes moved Smith, the team's leading ground-gainer in 1953, from halfback to fullback, and Harris from end to halfback.

Glassford expects to stick with the T-formation during the spring session, which terminates March 27 with an intra-squad game as highpoint of All-Sports Day. Other variations, including the Split-T, may be added later.

The drills, which will be held from 4 to 6 each afternoon, are open to the public.

Plainsmen Win Opener In Tourney

Lincoln Star Special
GRAND ISLAND—Jim Lightbody, Scotty Willoughby, Paul Fredstrom and Mel Sheary came through like the good firemen they are to turn the hoses on a blazing Omaha University basketball team and lead Nebraska Wesleyan to an 81-74 victory in the first round of the state NAIA playoffs here Monday night.

Omaha's hot Indians hit the bucket at a 44% clip in the first half and had Wesleyan on the run in the third period when they held a 14-point lead.

Bob Mackie, former Tech High ace, made seven out of nine long two-handed set shots in the first half. His 17 points led Omaha to a 49-37 halftime bulge over the Plainsmen, who were hitting at a fair 34% pace at that time.

Omaha pushed the advantage to 51-37 in the third period before the firemen came to the rescue.

Willoughby did a personal extinguishing job on the sizzling Mackie, guarding him closely in the second half and holding him to nine points. He scored six points and Lightbody scored 11 in the third period as Wesleyan started to come back.

Omaha led 63-58 at the end of the third period. Wesleyan continued to hammer away until Fredstrom made two baskets and two free throws to give Wesleyan a 69-67 lead.

Mackie countered with two baskets, making it 71-69 Omaha. Sheary then tied it again with a basket and sent Wesleyan ahead for good with two free throws that upped the score to 73-71.

Wesleyan went into its semi-stall and Lightbody made six free throws out of six attempts as the Plainsmen glided away.

Lightbody had 25 points for the winners. Willoughby got 20, Fredstrom 12, Sheary nine and red-headed fire chief Foster McGuire got 15.

In the other game, Chadron's Larry Lytle scored 15 points to pace the Eagles in a 50-38 win over Hastings. Chadron and Wesleyan will meet at 8 tonight for the right to represent Nebraska in the Kansas City NAIA tournament.

41 Yankees Report At First Practice

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—A squad of 41 was on hand Monday in windy but sunny weather as Casey Stengel sent the New York Yankees through a long workout.

Infielders and outfielders reported for the first time but there were four absentees, Mickey Mantle, Billy Martin, Phil Rizzuto and Willie Miranda. The first three have been excused until today or Wednesday but nothing has been heard from Miranda, who lives in Cuba.

With so many talented players on hand, the manager will have his hands full trying to cut the squad down. One means of disposing of surplus personnel is via the trade route and George Weiss, the general manager, is sounding out other clubs training in Florida in an effort to do business.

There will be morning and afternoon sessions until Saturday, when the Bombers open the exhibition schedule here with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Phils' $50,000 'Baby' To Warm Bench Again

CLEARWATER, Fla. (INS)—Nobody likes to warm the bench, even if he's sitting on a $50,000 cushion.

That, briefly is the story of the Philadelphia Phillies' poor little rich boy, Tommy Qualters, the McKeesport High School pitcher flash whom the Phils signed last year with a fancy bonus.

The pride of commanding the big price tag, however, was soon shattered when Qualters realized he was only a boy in a man's uniform, who had to be kept with the club only because the bonus precluded his shipment to the minors for experience.

The 16-year-old hurler isn't expected to crack the Phils' starting mound staff this season, so he won't be able to gain any competitive experience. Instead, he must depend upon becoming a major leaguer through osmosis.

Brightening his future, however, is the example set for him by teammates Robin Roberts and Curt Simmons, who also started out as bonus babies for President Bob Carpenter.

Qualters admits he was "scared stiff" when he reported to the Phils, but that's all over now.

"They treated me like one of the boys from the beginning, and I'm really earning a lot from them," he said.

Possessed of a fine curve ball, Qualters has grown a lot since last year, and seems to have put the extra weight into muscle.

Aside from his pitching potential, young Qualters has shown his mates he has the fortitude a major leaguer requires. His hustle and eagerness to learn has made him many friends in camp, including some who were convinced all the spirit had been drained from him by his bitter big league baptism.

His initiation came in an exhibition game against the Athletics last season, when he was clobbered off the mound by six runs in the second inning. It wasn't until September that Manager Steve O'Neill called him from the bullpen in a regular league game to relieve against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The first batter was Stan Musial. The man swung and missed the first pitch—a slow curve. Qualters was elated and fed Musial another. That was all, Stan smashed it against the wall, and before O'Neill rescued Qualters, six runs crossed the plate without an out.

This was a far cry from his best high school effort in which he struck out 24 batters and gave up only one hit in eight innings.

Qualters isn't figured to do much pitching for the Phils this year but he's as busy as any of the other candidates, heartened by O'Neill's declaration that:

"There's no reason for a fellow to think he hasn't got a chance. No one knows where the next star is coming from."

Seward, Alaska To Make Long Trip

Lincoln Star Special

SEWARD—Plans were announced Monday for the second game of a home-and-home basketball series, which could set something of a record for distances traveled by high school teams.

The Seabawks of the Seward, Alaska, High School will fly to Seward, Neb.—a distance of more than 4,000 miles—for a game with the Nebraska high school Memorial Day.

Twenty-one Nebraskans made the trip to Alaska by chartered bus for the first game last June.

On their flight south, the Alaskan basketball players will be accompanied by a representative group of 45 residents of the northern community.

Michigan Vacates Big Ten's Cellar

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—

Michigan vacated the Big Ten basketball cellar, temporarily at least, by outlasting Purdue, 83-75 Monday night.

The victory was Michigan's third in 13 conference games. The Wolverines will finish their season at Michigan State Saturday night. Purdue completed its season Monday night with a 3-11 conference record and an overall mark of nine victories against 13 defeats.

A pair of veterans, Paul Groffsky and Milt Mead, paced the Wolverines as they ended a seven-game losing streak. Groffsky tossed in 24 points and Mead added 19.

Wynn In Fold

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Pitcher

Early Wynn agreed Monday to his 1954 contract terms with the Cleveland Indians.

The signing of Wynn leaves only Pitcher Bob Lemon and rookie infielder Bobby Prentice still outside the Cleveland fold. Wynn won 17 and lost 12 last season. He expects to fly here from Florida.

First Pennant Picks Carbon Copy Of Last Year's Finish

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—We usually take three shots at picking the major league baseball races, the first two with a scatter gun that covers a lot of territory.

The first pick is now, before we've even seen any of the teams and before they have started to jell. The second is just before the opener, when you have at least a hazy idea of what might happen. The third is on the final day of the season. That one's usually pretty accurate.

We've received so many requests to tell what we think of the outlook that we'll answer both of them right now, and to avoid suspense we'll say that we like the Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees to repeat.

That probably isn't a very original thought, but we aren't trying to be a smart guy and pick a couple of long shots. We're just going along with the facts, man.

We thought that last year was the Dodgers' last chance to come through again, but we've revised that opinion, as we can't see much wrong with a lineup that includes Roy Campanella, Duke Snider, Carl Furillo, Pee Wee Reese, Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges and Billy Cox.

The Bums won by a comfortable margin last year, and will have Don Newcombe back this year to pad the cushion a little more. We also expect Joe Black to come back strongly, and believe the new manager, Walt Alston, will be able to handle that star-studded squad nicely.

We have to stick along with the Braves for second place, although we believe they'll have to hustle to stay ahead of the Cardinals. Azie Bush is pouring money into that St. Louis club, and when he pays out $75,000 for a 35-year-old pitcher with a so-so record the last couple of years on the chance

$500 Prize Tag

The best catch in state fishing circles from now on will be the 50¢-pound catfish pictured here in the process of being transplanted from its Missouri River home to the

Harlan County Reservoir. Last week the big cat was put in the Reservoir with 999 smaller fish. All were tagged with numbers ranging from 4,001 to 5,000—the big one. State Senator Tom Coffey of Alma said a $500 prize would be paid to the person who catches the big No. 5,000. Merchants in Alma, Orleans and Republican City have furnished $3,735 worth of prizes for anglers who catch any of the tagged fish. (Photo Special to The Star.)

Dressen Eliminated As All-Star Manager

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—National

League President Warren Giles Monday eliminated Charles Dressen, manager of last year's champions, as a candidate to manage the all-star team.

Giles refused to name the manager or state when he would reach a decision but when told that Dressen said he probably wouldn't be able to make it, if selected, the National League boss added:

"Dressen will not have the opportunity to make that decision."

The all-star managers by custom are the pennant winning managers of the previous season. The only exception was in 1948 when Leo Durocher managed the Nationals although Brooklyn won the 1947 pennant under Burt Shotton while Durocher was under suspension.

Irish Cage Coach Jordan Is Honored

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Jordan

of Notre Dame has been named coach of the year by the Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association. He will receive the award at a luncheon here March 10.

Jordan, now completing his third season as Notre Dame coach, has turned out two teams that have qualified for the NCAA tournament.

Last year the Irish compiled a 17-4 regular season record and won two NCAA games before being eliminated by Indiana, the eventual winner. This year they again qualified for the post season tournament, winning 19 games and losing only two. They will play Loyola of New Orleans in the preliminary round at Ft. Wayne, Ind., March 9.

Jordan, a 44-year-old Chicagoan, won three basketball letters at Notre Dame and captained the 1933 team. One of his teammates was Moose Krause, Notre Dame athletic director. He coached at Mount Carmel High School in Chicago and at Loyola of Chicago before returning to Notre Dame in 1932.

Ted Will Be Out For Six Weeks

Williams Fractures Shoulder In Tumble

By JOE REICHLER

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP)—Slugging Ted Williams, the highest paid player in baseball, broke his left shoulder Monday in the first 10 minutes of spring training and won't be able to lift a bat before the season opens.

The Boston Red Sox outfielder stumbled and fell while chasing a sinking fly off the bat of Hoot Evers.

"I tried to turn a somersault," Williams said. "But I fell heavily smack on the shoulder. I felt something snap. I knew damned well I'd broken something. It hurt like hell."

After a rapid clubhouse examination by Dr. Russell Sullivan of Boston, a winter fishing companion of the ball player, Williams was hustled to the Sarasota offices of Dr. Michael Di Cosola for X-rays.

"X-rays show the break is in a quite satisfactory position," the doctors announced in a joint statement. "We will have to X-ray again in three or four days. The shoulder must be in a cast for a minimum of three weeks. He cannot lift his arm or swing a bat for six weeks."

The Red Sox open their season six weeks from today in Philadelphia.

In technical language Dr. Di Cosola called the injury a "displaced and comminuted fracture at the junction of the outer and middle third of the left clavicle."

Williams had arrived at the official opening of spring training less than a hour before he was hurt. One of baseball's greatest sluggers, he had not yet touched a bat but had gone directly to the outfield to limber up. He had caught only a couple balls before drifting in easily for Evers' fly.

No Joy In Ted

Ted Williams, Boston Red Sox outfielder, is a glum ball player in the clubhouse Monday after he fractured his left shoulder. Ted, who's expected to be out of uniform

6-6 weeks, stumbled and hit his shoulder, fracturing a liner by Hoot Evers. (AP Wirephoto.)

As the ball began to sink Williams speeded up, appear to stumble and then fell directly on his shoulder. He is a left-handed batter but throws right handed.

Just how much of the season he will miss could not be determined immediately. Observers

NIT Opening Games Listed

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK (AP)—Six unseeded

teams were spotted in the first triple-header of the National Invitational Basketball tournament Monday, but their final placings in the tournament bracket won't be decided until the 12-team field is completed.

The pairings for the opening program Saturday will be: Louisville vs. St. Francis of Brooklyn, Dayton vs. Manhattan and Bowling Green vs. Wichita. The tournament committee went no further with the draw and did not make a final decision on the order of Saturday's games.

There still is a possibility that Wichita, second-place team in the Missouri Valley Conference, will be forced to withdraw. If Wichita should win its conference title, it will be committed to playing in the NCAA tournament. But Asa Bushnell, NIT committee chairman, said, "We are counting on Wichita."

Bushnell said the 12th team will be named Wednesday, after the deciding games in the Southwest Conference race have been played. Rice and Texas are tied for the Southwest lead and the NIT is seeking the runner-up to complete its field. The winner will go into the NCAA tournament.

If the second-place team in the Southwest declines a NIT bid, the University of Cincinnati still is under consideration. Bushnell said that the draw could not be completed Monday because the 12th team may be a factor in making the lineup.

Four of the eleven teams already named drew eyes into the quarter final round. Western Kentucky, No. 2, and Niagara, No. 4, will play Monday night, when the fourth game of the first round also will be played. Duquesne and Holy Cross, seeded first and third, won't get into action until Tuesday.

The eleventh team on the list, St. Francis of Loretta, Pa., hasn't been assigned a spot in the draw so far. But the little Pennsylvania team was strongly praised at Monday's Basketball Writers' luncheon, by two local coaches who have seen it this season.

Dave Polansky of CCNY and Danny Lynch of Brooklyn's St. Francis both called it a good team with an outstanding player in Maurice Stokes. Vince Davis, St. Francis (Pa.) athletic director, also praised Stokes and said that his team had received three tournament bids—from the NIT, the NCAA and the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics—within a 24-hour period. The NIT bid was accepted, he said, because he had been looking for a chance to display Stokes in the Garden for the past two years.

Enemy School Paper's Scoop Boots Paul Cameron From Navy

LOS ANGELES (AP)—All

America Halfback Paul Cameron of UCLA is being dropped from the Naval ROTC program at UCLA as a result of an item in the University of Southern California student paper referring to him as being married.

Capt. Joseph W. Davis, U.S.N., professor of Naval science and tactics at UCLA, said Monday he has forwarded his recommendation for dismissal to Washington and that "it is the law of the land" that students breaking a Navy contract be disenrolled.

Students signing up for Naval ROTC agree not to marry until completion of the course, when they are commissioned ensigns in the Naval Reserve.

Cameron was the big offense power for the Pacific Coast Conference champions who won the title with a victory over USC and then lost to Michigan State in the Rose Bowl. It was his final collegiate game and he has been drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers.

It was disclosed that Cameron was married on Nov. 28, 1952, and is the father of a baby daughter.

Being dropped from the Naval ROTC means Cameron's military status will be referred to his draft board after the Navy in Washington takes official action.

Captain Adams said only that he had received a report from the football player who married and Cameron verified the report. Action on the matter was taken the day after the report was received, the Naval officer added.

On Feb. 24, the student managing editor of The Daily Trojan at USC, Ed Neilan, had written in his column that during a golf game he had "played right behind UCLA's Paul Cameron and his wife."

Nebraska's Representatives Ponder Shooting

Puerto Rico, Security Discussed

Nebraska's representatives, stirred by the Monday shooting melee in the House, gave varied opinions on Puerto Rican independence and on possibly security measures to prevent such gunplay in the future.

Rep. Miller, who is chairman of the House Interior and Insular Affairs Committee, said he had suggested a month or so ago at the request of the President, that he would introduce legislation for Puerto Rican independence.

"I received many sharp letters against it," he said. "I think we should give them independence so we can control immigration. Now they can come and go as they wish. Any fanatic can get in. A lot of time in that shouldn't."

Miller said there must be a better security check on the visitors' gallery, adding that there is no protection now for members of the House.

Reps. Curtis, Hruska and Harrison said they felt that the incident would have no bearing on Puerto Rican independence. "It was the work of fanatics," Hruska said "and it shouldn't be a governing factor. They are doing their country a dis-service."

Hruska said it would be "awfully hard" to take any security measures as far as preventing a recurrence. "Hundreds of honest citizens visit the galleries every day and would resent 'frisking,'" Hruska said.

Curtis said he thought security measures could be tightened up but that it would be impossible to "make it absolutely safe." "You would have to not only inspect questionable characters, but also look in every lady's purse," Curtis said.

Harrison said he believed the galleries may be closed for a time and that more stringent precautions will have to be taken to protect members on the House floor.

Crosby Examines Five-Millionth Elgin

Elgin's Five Millionth Locally Made Watch Given Curtiss

The president of the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce received Monday, the five millionth watch manufactured by the Elgin National Watch Company in this city.

The gold watch, a symbol of local manufacturing, was presented to John Curtiss, Chamber president, at a noon luncheon at the Cornhusker Hotel following ceremonies at the Elgin plant earlier.

Gov. Robert Crosby and officials of the Chamber of Commerce were present during morning ceremonies to witness the completion of the watch. The luncheon was highlighted by a talk by William M. Brandes, vice-president in charge of manufacturing, who presented the watch to Curtiss by way of thanking "the people of Lincoln."

Vice-President Brandes told the gathering that the company, at present one of the nation's most crucial military production industries would be "fatally handicapped" if its precision manufacturing skills and facilities are not preserved.

Brandes voiced the opinion that higher tariffs on watch movements, including jewels, from Switzerland would help save the industry in the United States. The only thing that is keeping the industry in the United States according to Brandes, is the manufacture of technical instruments used by the armed forces.

"Only Industry" Brandes said "we could shut down our American watchmaking facilities at Lincoln and Elgin tomorrow" but pointed out that "our industry is the only one in America which has the facilities to manufacture many of the complex ammunition components and precision timing devices which our country must have in the event of war."

In accepting the watch, Curtiss thanked Elgin for the "outstanding contribution Elgin National Watch Company makes to our country."

Solon Uses Necktie To Aid His Colleague
WASHINGTON (P)—A fellow congressman whipped off his necktie to stanch the flow of blood when Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala.) was hit in the leg by one of the pistol shots poured into the House Monday.

Rep. Percy Priest (D-Tenn), minus tie and with shirt collar unbuttoned, told reporters that he was sitting next to Roberts. "Ken said to me, 'Percy, I'm shot.' Then he toppled over. 'I didn't see what else happened because I took off my necktie and made a tourniquet of it to check the bleeding.'"

The spot of blood in the carpeting, not much bigger than a silver dollar, testified to the promptness with which Priest applied first aid.

LHS Debate Team Leads Northeast Beginners Meet

Lincoln High School's debate team won top individual honors in a beginners tournament held at Northeast High School, according to Adam J. Mueller, Northeast debate coach.

Nine Nebraska high schools entered 28 teams in the event. Four trophies were awarded to schools which rated superior. Winners of five debates while losing none, the members of the Lincoln High team were Frank Hemphill and Carl Bodenstein.

Northwest, which did not compete for trophies, had the second-high team. The team of Jim Jorgenson and Bill Schultz won four and lost one.

Omaha North was top school in the tournament and other schools receiving trophies were Fremont and Norfolk High Schools.

Lincoln Cathedral, Creighton Prep, Omaha St. Mary's and Omaha South were also entered.

Weekly Air Raid Siren Test Planned By City

The city's four new air raid sirens will be tested every Monday from now on at 5 p.m.

Tests are expected to run for about three minutes. Custodians at three schools where the sirens are located will report in on the operation of the sirens.

Those sirens are located atop Northeast High, Hartley elementary and Irving Junior High. The fourth siren, on the First National Bank building, will be observed by city officials.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 8 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 8, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. This calling of important names is a concomitant of the semester of the political solistes. Four cities claimed Homer the original bonus baby. Four hundred claim Jefferson, Jackson and Washington. At a C-note a plate. We have used in solemn reading to allocate the characters of history to both parties. We have pointed out many times that Washington stood up in a reborn Ben Franklin New Lines at the age of 45 and Mark Anthony's memorable words in Cleopatra's tent. "I did not come here to praise Caesar."

'A' Device Set Off In Marshalls

Speculation Of Hell Bomb Test Aroused

WASHINGTON (INS)—The United States today announced Monday that an "atomic device" had been detonated in the Marshall Islands and speculation immediately was aroused that a super-powerful hydrogen "hell bomb" had been exploded.

The Atomic Energy Commission, the Air Force and the Navy said they were under an iron-clad secrecy ban.

But there were strong indications that perfected H-bomb had been tested.

The first hydrogen blast in history occurred at the Marshall Island proving grounds in November, 1952. Its awe and results were described in eyewitness letters so lurid that rigid censorship was imposed on personnel involved in the present tests.

First Of Series

The official announcement today said: "Lewis L. Strauss, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission announced Monday that Joint Task Force Seven has detonated an atomic device at the AEC's Pacific proving ground in the Marshall Islands. This detonation was the first in a series of tests."

Rep. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Joint Congressional Atomic Energy Committee, said he had been informed that an atomic test had occurred, but that he had been given no further information.

Military observers in Washington pointed out that President Eisenhower, in his recent atomic energy message to Congress, cited the enormous strides made in development of the H-bomb as a new and dreadful weapon in the nation's atomic arsenal.

Scientists and armed forces experts have hinted that the H-bomb, vastly more destructive than the now "conventional" A-bombs, has been developed to the point where it could be "compressed" to a size permitting it to be dropped from an airplane.

The "White Island" hydrogen, or thermonuclear, device exploded at Bikini atoll in the Marshalls was set off on the ground.

Members of the 1952 task force told of a "whole island" disappearing in the horrendous explosion.

In a recent Chicago speech, Cole said the 1952 hydrogen missile blasted a hole a mile wide and 175 feet in the ocean floor.

Under conditions of strictest secrecy, in a project involving billions of dollars, the United States since that time has been engaged in improving the hydrogen weapon to a point where it would be readily transportable by air.

"This will not be a committee," said Mrs. Orme, "to snoop into persons' homes. It will work in co-operation with all existing agencies."

"There are trends of juvenile delinquency that are not now being curbed. There are entirely too many youngsters on the streets at night and something is needed to keep our youth occupied."

A curfew for children, said Mrs. Orme, might be one of the results of this committee. Many of the delinquency problems, she said, spring from the home, which means that an educational program is needed.

Recreation, said Mrs. Orme, is not the only way to provide something for children to do. Some type of work program might be in order, she said.

This will not be a temporary committee, said Mrs. Orme, but will be established to carry out its work over a period of years.

County Jail's '53 Work Load Boosted Nearly 50 Per Cent

Prisoner load at the Lancaster County jail nearly doubled last year.

This was revealed in Sheriff Merle Karnopp's annual report for 1953 which showed the jail had a total of 227 prisoners during the year as compared with 149 for the previous year.

A total of 1,520 writs were delivered by the sheriff's office during the year as compared with 1,298 in 1952.

Reflecting the increased use of the County Court for cases formerly processed in Municipal Court, a total of 212 criminal warrants were issued out of County Court in 1953 as compared with 66 in 1952.

Coroner's investigation made by the sheriff's office totaled 88 cases as compared with 100 for 1952.

Liquor Permit Hike Again Turned Down

Lincoln's City Council has again gone on record as opposed to any increase in the number of liquor licenses it will grant in the city.

It did so by turning down the applications of A. C. Christopoulos and son and Edward D. Fischer for package liquor licenses. Both applications would have carried the city beyond the 30 licenses now considered the limit.

An increase in the number of licenses had been advocated by Attorney Pat Boyles in behalf of Christopoulos. The existing limit, he said, was established in 1940 and an increase is in order on the basis of increased population.

Also, said Boyles, the number of licenses in Lincoln according to its population is below nearly every other city in the state. Plus this, he said, the Air Base reactivation will create an additional demand from 4,000 to 6,000 persons.

In other action, the Council dismissed the citation against Schimmel Hotels Co. to show cause why its license for the sale of beer should not be revoked for the sale of beer to a minor.

Child Crime Prevention Group Okayed

Establishment of a Juvenile Crime Prevention Committee to help stem the tide of increasing juvenile delinquency has been approved by the City Council.

A product of City Councilwoman Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme, the committee will be composed of five members serving three years. Purpose of the committee will be to "study juvenile and related problems and make recommendations to the City Council."

"This will not be a committee," said Mrs. Orme, "to snoop into persons' homes. It will work in co-operation with all existing agencies."

"There are trends of juvenile delinquency that are not now being curbed. There are entirely too many youngsters on the streets at night and something is needed to keep our youth occupied."

A curfew for children, said Mrs. Orme, might be one of the results of this committee. Many of the delinquency problems, she said, spring from the home, which means that an educational program is needed.

Recreation, said Mrs. Orme, is not the only way to provide something for children to do. Some type of work program might be in order, she said.

This will not be a temporary committee, said Mrs. Orme, but will be established to carry out its work over a period of years.

As created by the Council, the committee has no authority to expend funds unless authorized to do so by the Council.

Tax Return Drop Called 'Insignificant'

While city tax collections have fallen slightly for the current fiscal year as compared to last year, the drop is of no significance, according to Finance Director Thor Berg.

Collections for the year to date, Sept. 1 to Feb. 1, total $1,319,029 or 75.2 per cent of the levy as compared to collections of $1,443,337 or 77.1 per cent for the same period last year. The difference, explained Berg, is merely a matter of taxes being paid at different times.

If the city was going to stay behind this year, he said, it would have been behind all year but collections have been ahead of last year to last month. Back taxes collected this year to date total $33,396.

A total cash balance of $3,513,343 was reported by City Treasurer Frank J. Miller with $862,948 in other wholly or partially tax supported funds, $1,247,201 in self-sustaining funds, $331,141 in definite purpose funds and $530,215 in special assessment district funds.

Senate Confirms Warren As Chief Justice

Approval By Voice Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Monday confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of Earl Warren as 14th chief justice of the United States.

Approval came on a voice vote, with no audible dissents, after a brief discussion. About 40 senators were present.

The 62-year-old Warren, three times governor of California and the Republican vice presidential candidate in 1948, has been serving on the Supreme Court since last October under a presidential appointment made while Congress was in adjournment.

Monday's swift confirmation was in contrast to the lengthy delay before the Senate finally got around to vote. Warren's nomination to succeed the late Fred M. Vinson was submitted to the Senate on Jan. 11, but it was not until last Wednesday that the Senate Judiciary Committee under Chairman Langer (R-ND) voted 12-3 to recommend confirmation.

Langer, reportedly at loggerheads with the Eisenhower administration over patronage matters, aroused a storm of protest by airing 10 unsubstantiated and unworn accusations against Warren at a public hearing.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, termed Langer's action "the most shocking event" he had observed in his eight years in the Senate and later suggested the Senate should revise its present system of selecting committee chairmen on the basis of seniority.

Langer, in turn, challenged Knowland to try to oust him as chairman of the Judiciary Committee. The North Dakota senator, defending his handling of Warren's nomination, said he had acted fairly and without undue delay.

Giant Runway

MUROC LAKE, Calif. (AP)—A runway 15,000 feet long—almost three miles—and 300 feet wide is being constructed at Edwards Air Force Base here for the planes that are steadily pushing back the frontiers of flight. The slab is 19 inches thick and is flanked by earth shoulders 300 feet wide. Pouring of concrete, with two giant paving machines in operation, is well under way. Completion is scheduled for November, 1954. The runway is a major phase of the expansion program that is transforming Edwards Field into a permanent flight test center.

State-Wide United Health Fund Drive For Nebraska Next Year Under Study

OMAHA (AP)—A state-wide United Health Fund drive is contemplated for Nebraska next year, according to Dr. James Kelley of Omaha, president of the Nebraska State Medical Association.

Dr. Kelley said this drive would take the place of the many health drives now carried on by the individual sponsoring organizations.

He said the medical association has been formulating plans for such a drive for several years and spade-work has now reached the point where it seems assured the first state-wide drive can be held next year.

Dr. Kelley said the Heart Association has been approached; the Nebraska Cancer Association has been favorable to a co-operative fund drive and arthritis and diabetes groups have expressed their approval.

Difference

He said the State Medical Association has felt for some time that there is a difference between the legitimate "must give" drives of the Community Chests and social and welfare agencies and the low pressure "may give" drives of health organizations. "We feel that they should be separate, but we feel that the public is entitled to just one health drive," Dr. Kelley said.

The House of Delegates of the medical society adopted a resolution in May, 1953, to start the movement, and organizational work has been going on since.

Dr. Kelley said the medical profession will support the united drive and will protect the public from questionable drives. He said all legitimate health agencies will be invited to participate in the drive next year.

$11,854 Suit Filed In Two-Car Collision

A $11,854 suit arising out of a two-car collision north of Kramer on Dec. 14, 1953, has been filed in Lancaster District Court.

Otto Kvasnicka of Crete seeks judgment for medical and hospital expenses and loss of service damages allegedly incurred by him because of injuries received by his son, Elvin G. Kvasnicka, 16, in the accident.

Defendants named in the suit are Walter F. Wilson of Rt. 1, Martell, driver of one car, and Ronley Schultz, alleged driver of the car in which Kvasnicka was riding, and Ed Schultz, owner of the car and Ronley's father.

3-D Aids Science

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Ohio State University researchers are looking for new uses for the 3-D pictures. At present the major application of 3-D to science is in photogrammetry — mapping or surveying with the aid of photographs. Dr. Bertil P. Hallert, Swedish scientist and associate in OSU's mapping and charting research laboratory, says a 3-D aerial photograph can be used to prepare a detailed map.

Scheele Tells His Campaign Plans

Elmer M. Scheele, chief deputy attorney for Lancaster County, announced his campaign for the county attorney post would be waged "on the basic issue of efficient, scientific and impartial law enforcement."

Scheele filed for the post on the Republican ticket after announcing his candidacy about 10 days ago when Co. Atty. Frederick Wagener said he was entering the GOP race for governor.

The former FBI agent said he thought the "main issue of the (county attorney) campaign will be the qualifications and experience of the respective candidates who may file."

"The business affairs of the county outside the field of criminal law are also of the utmost importance and involve large sums of money," Scheele said.

"I will see to it that the county and the taxpayers will be fully protected in that phase of the county's business."
